

CANADA'S DEBT TO SCOTCH PIONEERS

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 8.—The Canadian prime minister, Arthur Meighen, fulfilled a number of engagements in Edinburgh before his departure for the Dominion. He received the freedom of the city and had bestowed upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws of Edinburgh University.

At the freedom ceremony Billie Barrie, the acting chief magistrate, said the Corporation of the citizens of Edinburgh were proud to avail themselves of the opportunity of admitting to their burgess roll a man who had played so prominent a part in the affairs of the great Dominion of Canada. They were apt to think of Canada's sons as being of the old pioneer type, but while the old time qualities of endurance and grit were still present, they must not forget the wisdom and acute intelligence and the deep culture which were also present in the vast continent.

The wonderful progress and development of Canada, the speaker said, turned one of the romances in the history of the Empire. Scotsmen had played a great part in the development of Canada, and it was an interesting fact to Scotland that the first prime ministers were Scotsmen—Sir John Macdonald and Sir Alexander Maclellan. Billie Barrie said that they were proud to have a Scotchman in the building up of the Dominion, and he instanced Lord Strathcona and Lord Minto, Scotchmen as men who had done much to open up and develop the great agricultural and mineral wealth of the country.

Edinburgh a Real Mecca Mr. Meighen, in reply, said that across in Canada Edinburgh was regarded as one of the real Meccas of the world, as one of the few places that had both a brilliant present and a fascinating past. It was a privilege for him to describe how citizens in a far-off land looked upon the historical places of these cities. As a citizen of Canada, even though his ancestors had never been traced east of the Irish Sea, he knew how to appreciate the obligation Canada owed to Scotland. From their rugged hills Canada had drawn unnumbered thousands of the most rugged of her men, and from Scotland's towers and castles they had gathered an elite stream of talented and noble women. They were the sons of the house, have had a Canada, and a fine Canada, if they had never had immigration, but they had not been a Canada as they had today; it would not have been a British. As a citizen of the Empire, he was glad that there was a Scotchman in the building up of the Dominion, and he was glad to see that men had played their part, giving the world an illustration of how to combine devotion to peace with dauntlessness in war.

Honor to His Country To realize at last his long-deferred wish of seeing Edinburgh, Mr. Meighen said, was a peculiar pleasure in itself, but to be admitted at the same time as a freeman in such circumstances of cordiality and ancient dignity was a distinction so great that even pleasure was submerged in gratitude and pride. He thanked them with deep sincerity for the kindness they had shown to him and the honor they had done to his country.

In presenting Mr. Meighen for the honorary degree of LL.D., Professor Maclellan said that town and country distinguished that day in doing the honors of the Scotch capital to a man who was always such a great credit to Canada's able representative at all times. He was the youngest son of the oldest of the dominions. Mr. Meighen was the youngest son of the oldest of the dominions. The principal, having performed the tapping ceremony, said the links between the Scotch and the Dominion were bonds of sentiment and would never be broken. Scotland would be greater potency than could be possible. He was a man of great intellect, and possessing only infinitely greater promise for the future.

Canada's Debt to Pioneers In his reply to Mr. Meighen said that more perhaps than other races, the Scotch men and women of early days in Canada set their hearts on education, and it was the Scotchman who said that whatever of moral and intellectual qualities he possessed, he owed to severe self-discipline, the passion for education of his pioneers. The early work of the Scotchman universities had its explanation in that fact.

Even before Canada received her present political institutions, there were established several universities. One of the first was in the mother country. The one he called the University of the West Indies. It was a university of energy and devotion to learning of a Scotsman. Compared with Edinburgh University, a tradition was that the British flag had flown over Canada for only 100 years, a university was a charter a century old was no longer juvenile. It had grown to extraordinary dimensions, and was measured by the number of students within its walls, the reputation of the world.

He hoped the glamour of the practical would never be allowed to obscure the fundamental principles of the profession of every sort of learning, the cultivation of the understanding and the training of the intellect. Only by the way could they cause the light to shine, only in that way could they lift the better things of the world, create, invigorate, inspire, sustain, comfort in adversity, and temper in triumph. The education that they contribute to the production of those who are to be the leaders of the world, which people were to be just the human standard of a nation, and the standard of the world, was the time long after the nation itself had passed away.

NEW STEVENSON MATERIAL FOUND More than a hundred poems and a number of letters hitherto unpublished, as well as other literary material, are shortly to appear in a new edition of Robert Louis Stevenson's works. There are also a play in three acts which has hitherto been available in a privately printed edition of twenty copies, and a few short stories. Some of the letters are said to be well up to the Stevenson standard. Of peculiar interest to students of Stevenson is the fact that he wrote a story about Moses and was a Bible picture book for it. Indeed, from five to six he always writing at intervals, though not in great detail, but his early output was preserved. Interestingly, too, is the diary which he kept, in which he chronicled the minutest observations of the youth as though she had a presentiment of the time would come when the world would be interested in Stevenson's character.

The diary gives a picture of the Calcutta surroundings in which he was reared, but he does not appear that he made any profound impression on the mind of his boyhood as he has written. "His early life had been temperate, untroubled with those of many women, and I never heard him express a wish that it might have been otherwise," he occasionally he was sworn viciously, and when roused he was most violent temper; he loved good wine and the good things of life; he often chastened people who were not worth chastening, impulsively by hitting them, and when himself in consequence, in a sense, he was unkind to accept responsibilities or tasks that

FARM IMPLEMENTS Deering—McCormick—Emerson JOHN H. YOUNG Oils and Greases

CLUB BILLIARD ROOM J. R. MORRISON Prop.

LEONARD EAR OIL RELIEVES HEADACHE AND STOPS HEAD NOISES. Simply rub the Ear Oil on the temples in a circle. Proofs of success. MADE IN CANADA. 100% Pure. For Sale in Macleod by A. D. Ferguson.

Irish Castle For Benedictine Dames Ypres was witness to perhaps some of the most frequent encounters of the recent European struggle. Nothing now remains of its monuments of medieval Flemish art, its magnificent Cloth Hall and its stately churches, striking monuments of the days of the city's greatest prosperity. In the midst of all that has been leveled by the "red artillery" of the invader, the Benedictine community continued for well nigh 250 years to lead a life of prayer and contemplation and scholarly labor. The original abbess, Mary, Countess of Flanders, was being badly charred by the flames, point to the fact that in 1579, a small party of Irish Benedictine Dames, professed at the Monastery of Ghent, established with episcopal sanction a monastery and school at Ypres. It was a tranquil retreat, where a monastic education was given and where Irishwomen might pursue their religious life in the quietude of their native land. Under the rule of Lady Abbes Butler, cousin to the Duke of Ormonde, they flourished for some years, and on the invitation of James II, removed to Dublin in 1687; but the revolution and subsequent events in Ireland compelled the nuns to return to Ypres. There they stayed for more than two centuries and half. The art treasures bestowed by the distinguished patronesses as well as the annual and documents accumulated and preserved by the successive generations of the Daughters of St. Benedict, manifest the high esteem in which the monastic life was held by the only religious house in Flanders which weathered the storm through the Austro-Prussian and Dutch invasions.

His First Effort At the age of two his mother recalled to be told the story of Cain and Abel and the lions' den. In another year he was playing church, an overturned chair being the pulpit and the preacher. Shortly afterward he set his face against dolls and toys. At the age of five it is interesting to note that he dreamed that "the noise of bells was heard in heaven, perhaps in response to that suggestion he composed the following poem: "No sun in the sky While night comes on. Then stars and moon come out, And then another day. The sun comes out again."

His Treasure Island His next essay was the history of Moses, which is really a commendable piece of composition following closely the Biblical text. Now and then he permits himself an independent observation, as when Moses reared up the brazen serpent. "That should put us in mind of Jesus," he writes, "because the old serpent, the Devil, bit us; that means made us naughty, and when we look at Jesus with our eyes, but to look with praying." Osborne relates the circumstances of the invention of "Treasure Island." It appears that he had come across an old map taken from a sea chest, and one morning Stevenson found him looking at it. He studied the map, and then he began to elaborate it and write down the names that since have become famous, Skelton, Rappard, Hill, and the "Treasure Island" itself, which he wrote at the top right-hand corner.

The Collaborators Stevenson took the map away with him, but the next day Lloyd, then a young boy, was called up to his bedroom, to find the map spread out on the floor, and to listen with rapture to the first chapters of the great story. Osborne has some protests to offer against the common assumption that Stevenson was the author of the literary critics that in the books he has written, "because the old serpent, the Devil, bit us; that means made us naughty, and when we look at Jesus with our eyes, but to look with praying." Osborne relates the circumstances of the invention of "Treasure Island." It appears that he had come across an old map taken from a sea chest, and one morning Stevenson found him looking at it. He studied the map, and then he began to elaborate it and write down the names that since have become famous, Skelton, Rappard, Hill, and the "Treasure Island" itself, which he wrote at the top right-hand corner.

Irish Benevolence "Through the efforts of his prior, Dom Aubert Merten, the Benedictine community in Rome, the benevolent intentions of the great story. Osborne has some protests to offer against the common assumption that Stevenson was the author of the literary critics that in the books he has written, "because the old serpent, the Devil, bit us; that means made us naughty, and when we look at Jesus with our eyes, but to look with praying." Osborne relates the circumstances of the invention of "Treasure Island." It appears that he had come across an old map taken from a sea chest, and one morning Stevenson found him looking at it. He studied the map, and then he began to elaborate it and write down the names that since have become famous, Skelton, Rappard, Hill, and the "Treasure Island" itself, which he wrote at the top right-hand corner.

D. R. CARSE PLUMBING, GASFITTING AND TINSMITHING 24th St. Phone 121

THE DAYS are now drawing in and very soon you will be using your Electric Light several hours each evening. Now is a very good time to look over your lighting arrangements and get that extra light fixed. We do this kind of work well and at a fair price. The lighting material has dropped in price—now is the time to take advantage of this as prices will rise again with the coming of the winter demand. JUST PHONE NO. 7—We will send a man to look over your requirements.

Municipal Electricity Department

BETTER THAN PILLS FOR LIVER BILLS. THE REASON: "LIVER PILLS" FOR LIVER BILLS. A. D. FERGUSON, Drugist

DECAY OF PARLIAMENT BEWAILED BY BELLOC

Hilare Belloc, from whom not much has been heard since the war, is of opinion that the British House of Commons is on the road to perdition, and he sees no way to save it. There has been quietly going on a revolution which has had the effect of changing the whole character of England, so that the Commons, which once represented the nation, has ceased to do so. Britain is no longer an aristocratic state, using the word in its broadest sense. A house composed chiefly of squire and merchants is no longer representative of it. One of the reasons for this is the gradual growth of the urban as compared with the rural population. The majority of Englishmen no longer live in the country. They dwell in towns, and industrial towns of the Midlands, he says, now give the tone to the whole country. They have lost entirely any trace of the traditions of the old aristocratic order. London preserves it only there and there in scattered districts and groups of her seven million inhabitants.

A Sad Case The writer thus sets forth his case: The thesis: The House of Commons was formed by, and is essentially, the result of the Reform Bill in England, having ceased to be an aristocratic body, and the House of Commons is ceasing to function. 2. The name "House of Commons" is a misnomer, and the House of Commons is ceasing to function. 3. The institution we know as "the House of Commons" arose from the Reformation, and not from created by aristocracy; for aristocracy was a main political product of the Reformation in England.

Parliaments must be oligarchies. Oligarchies only work as aristocracies. The aristocratic state demands aristocratic action and temper, both in those who govern and in those who are governed. These are lost to both in modern England. 4. The aristocratic character of the House of Commons has departed from those who are governed and from those who govern. Their loss of aristocratic temper is evident in the condition to which the House of Commons has last fallen. 5. The aristocratic spirit, which has quite disappeared from the House of Commons, is disappearing also in the governing class as a whole. 6. The aristocratic spirit is disappearing also in the governing class as a whole.

Man the Lifeboats The House, therefore, would seem to be in a sorry plight. Mr. Belloc is not entirely without hope, but he says the last resort must be taken immediately to prepare for the situation that is bound to arise when the aristocratic spirit is gone. Either there must be a return to monarchy, he says, or the formation of a new confederation of states upon some principle of equal representation and governed by one responsible central authority. In either case, he says, there should be a group of councils supporting whatever form of central executive may be decided upon. It is suggested that the councils should represent the Legal Guild, the Trade Unions, the Medical Guild, the Educational Guild. Mr. Belloc's preference is for a monarchy, but he says that he does not mean a King in the conventional sense. He explains "I mean a monarch, but normally an adult man, in possession of his faculties, who is responsible ultimately to the Commonwealth for the general conduct and preservation."

Unrivaled Beauty "Thus was fulfilled the long-deltired hope for the return of the Benedictines to their native land. The Archdiocese of Tuam was the place chosen by Providence for this Irish abbot, under the patronage of an Archbishop who in no way was less than the perfection of his saintly and scholarly predecessor. The castle is worthy of the great order. It is a large Gothic structure with spacious salons and a magnificent room, the most perfect in every detail, from the stately battlements and towers which rear their heads above the town, to the shimmering lake beneath."

The beautiful church in the grounds is an example of the same style. The property, costing $41,000 (which sum $20,000 was borrowed & paid for in the past year) and 10,000 acres, the greater part of which was owned by the old and the poor people of Contama. The mountains, lakes and rivers it comprises are perhaps unrivaled for scenic beauty. A New Hampshire preacher says that men should be required to wear smoken glasses to keep them from staring at the women. Why not require the women to wear glasses—or something?

BETTER THAN PILLS FOR LIVER BILLS. THE REASON: "LIVER PILLS" FOR LIVER BILLS. A. D. FERGUSON, Drugist

DECAY OF PARLIAMENT BEWAILED BY BELLOC

Hilare Belloc, from whom not much has been heard since the war, is of opinion that the British House of Commons is on the road to perdition, and he sees no way to save it. There has been quietly going on a revolution which has had the effect of changing the whole character of England, so that the Commons, which once represented the nation, has ceased to do so. Britain is no longer an aristocratic state, using the word in its broadest sense. A house composed chiefly of squire and merchants is no longer representative of it. One of the reasons for this is the gradual growth of the urban as compared with the rural population. The majority of Englishmen no longer live in the country. They dwell in towns, and industrial towns of the Midlands, he says, now give the tone to the whole country. They have lost entirely any trace of the traditions of the old aristocratic order. London preserves it only there and there in scattered districts and groups of her seven million inhabitants.

A Sad Case The writer thus sets forth his case: The thesis: The House of Commons was formed by, and is essentially, the result of the Reform Bill in England, having ceased to be an aristocratic body, and the House of Commons is ceasing to function. 2. The name "House of Commons" is a misnomer, and the House of Commons is ceasing to function. 3. The institution we know as "the House of Commons" arose from the Reformation, and not from created by aristocracy; for aristocracy was a main political product of the Reformation in England.

Parliaments must be oligarchies. Oligarchies only work as aristocracies. The aristocratic state demands aristocratic action and temper, both in those who govern and in those who are governed. These are lost to both in modern England. 4. The aristocratic character of the House of Commons has departed from those who are governed and from those who govern. Their loss of aristocratic temper is evident in the condition to which the House of Commons has last fallen. 5. The aristocratic spirit, which has quite disappeared from the House of Commons, is disappearing also in the governing class as a whole. 6. The aristocratic spirit is disappearing also in the governing class as a whole.

Man the Lifeboats The House, therefore, would seem to be in a sorry plight. Mr. Belloc is not entirely without hope, but he says the last resort must be taken immediately to prepare for the situation that is bound to arise when the aristocratic spirit is gone. Either there must be a return to monarchy, he says, or the formation of a new confederation of states upon some principle of equal representation and governed by one responsible central authority. In either case, he says, there should be a group of councils supporting whatever form of central executive may be decided upon. It is suggested that the councils should represent the Legal Guild, the Trade Unions, the Medical Guild, the Educational Guild. Mr. Belloc's preference is for a monarchy, but he says that he does not mean a King in the conventional sense. He explains "I mean a monarch, but normally an adult man, in possession of his faculties, who is responsible ultimately to the Commonwealth for the general conduct and preservation."

Unrivaled Beauty "Thus was fulfilled the long-deltired hope for the return of the Benedictines to their native land. The Archdiocese of Tuam was the place chosen by Providence for this Irish abbot, under the patronage of an Archbishop who in no way was less than the perfection of his saintly and scholarly predecessor. The castle is worthy of the great order. It is a large Gothic structure with spacious salons and a magnificent room, the most perfect in every detail, from the stately battlements and towers which rear their heads above the town, to the shimmering lake beneath."

The beautiful church in the grounds is an example of the same style. The property, costing $41,000 (which sum $20,000 was borrowed & paid for in the past year) and 10,000 acres, the greater part of which was owned by the old and the poor people of Contama. The mountains, lakes and rivers it comprises are perhaps unrivaled for scenic beauty. A New Hampshire preacher says that men should be required to wear smoken glasses to keep them from staring at the women. Why not require the women to wear glasses—or something?

BETTER & CHEAPER WORK is done by a Trust Company than by an individual in the administration of estates, because it is specially organized for this purpose, and the volume of its business results in less expensive and more efficient service. We are pleased to answer any inquiries.

TRUSTS and GUARANTEE COMPANY, LIMITED 220—Eighth Ave. West—Calgary, Alberta

SHOE REPAIRING Men's, Women's and Children's AT MODERATE PRICES RUBBER HEELS, POLISHES, LACES, ETC., AT

W. K. MACKIE On the Corner, Next Town Hall

EMPRESS—FRI. and SAT. WILL ROGERS in "The Strange Boarder" WILL YOU PLEASE PASS THE PRUNES? Said the strange boarder to the prettiest girl in Mrs. McChesney's boarding house. She did. And she took an interest in the boarder's little motherless son, Billie, from that moment. She found the strange boarder possessed of a great soul—wonderful optimism, a profound belief in the better nature of— even boarders. THRILLS! ROMANCE! A GREAT HEART-INTEREST STORY AN INSPIRING CHARACTER!

AUTO LIVERY DAY AND NIGHT SERVICE OUR SPECIALTY TRIPS TO THE WATER-TON LAKES McLaughlin Cars Reasonable Rates DAY PHONE, 186 NIGHT PHONE, 191 GEORGE MARLOW Leave orders at H. H. Young's Implement Office.

OPENING OF THE CLARESHOLM SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE Classes in Practical Agriculture and Household Science will commence ON OCTOBER 27, 1921 IRRIGATION COURSE WILL BE INCLUDED IN PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE. THE COURSES ARE FREE. STUDENTS MUST BE SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE BEFORE BEING ADMITTED. EXCELLENT ACCOMMODATION CAN BE SECURED AT REASONABLE RATES WITH RESPECTABLE FAMILIES IN TOWN. For Calendars and further information apply to: H. A. CRAIG, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alberta. J. C. HOOPER, Principal, School of Agriculture, Claresholm, Alberta.

OPENING OF THE CLARESHOLM SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE Classes in Practical Agriculture and Household Science will commence ON OCTOBER 27, 1921 IRRIGATION COURSE WILL BE INCLUDED IN PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE. THE COURSES ARE FREE. STUDENTS MUST BE SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE BEFORE BEING ADMITTED. EXCELLENT ACCOMMODATION CAN BE SECURED AT REASONABLE RATES WITH RESPECTABLE FAMILIES IN TOWN. For Calendars and further information apply to: H. A. CRAIG, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alberta. J. C. HOOPER, Principal, School of Agriculture, Claresholm, Alberta.

Telegraph News

WORK ALL WINTER
ON L. N. DITCHES
If Weather Favorable and Men Available—Good Prices on Steel Work

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 8.—The coming winter is an open one for the heavy machinery on the excavation work of the Lethbridge Northern may operate continuously through the spring. The earth is dry now, which means that frost will not tie up the dirt moving. The only obstacle that might interfere in the opinion of Secretary Dunsmuir is the possible refusal of the men to work in the winter months.

In July approximately 500,000 cubic yards of earth were moved. This is about the same amount as was moved in June. July would have smashed the previous month's record had more men been available. The contractors at no time in July worked at a maximum.

Satisfaction is expressed at the very reasonable price on the steel work by the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal. "We are getting very favorable bids on all of our work," said the secretary, "and the work is moving along fine. We cannot complain in the least. I think we have been very fortunate with most of our bids."

A. G. Creelman, Calgary, who has the contract for the cement work and timber structure at Willow Creek has established a camp and is now busy.

September 17 the contracts for the concrete and timber work on the Old river will be let.

The Lethbridge Northern officials are now housed in the new Standard office in the new Standard Bank building. The quarters are none too large in fact a congestion is anticipated when the engineers now in the field come in for the winter.

FOSTER, DOHERTY, CALDER AND REID TO QUIT CABINET

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—With the return of the Premier to Ottawa tomorrow, the more serious preparations for election will be begun. Much work has to be done. Primarily stands cabinet reorganization. Expected some months ago, the reorganization has on several occasions been delayed, but it is expected that the Premier will now take advantage of the opportunity and go to the country on a fully reorganized cabinet.

Four to Resign
The changes probably will mean the resignations of Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce; Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways; Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, and Hon. J. A. Calder, president of the privy council, with the exception of two others. Younger men no doubt will be brought in. In this connection the names among others have been mentioned of J. A. Stewart, member for Lanark; Captain Manion of Fort William, and H. H. Stevens of Vancouver. But it is possible that the Premier will also seek new blood for his cabinet under present members of parliament.

New Alignment Old Line Parties
The announcement of an election has let loose a flood of rumors. The Premier's emphasis in his London speech on the issue of protection and free trade is taken in some quarters to indicate that a new alignment of the old parties will be sought. Nor would some such outcome occasion great surprise. The strength of the government will be directed against the fiscal doctrine of the National Progressives. Such a campaign, it is expected among government supporters, would secure a large proportion of the protection vote in the east. But the campaign is only in its initial stage, and more rumors to greet where its developments may lead.

From present indications candidates will be representative not only of the four parties officially in the field, but of almost every conceivable point of view. There are independent, innumerable, and women candidates, as well as the women's vote, may play a considerable part. The cabinet order has been called for today, but it is improbable that anything will be handled beyond routine. A number of appointments are pending, but they will await the return of the Premier.

MONTANA MISER STARVES TO DEATH
Emil Warner, Who Formerly Had Ranch in Sweetgrass, Hills. Had $8,500 Cash

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 2.—Dying of starvation with $5,000 to his credit in a Great Falls bank, and $500 in cash on his person, Emil Warner, famous miser of the upper Judith river country, Montana, was found by two riders of the Hudson Bay stock company in his cabin last Sunday. He was a terribly emaciated body lying on the floor near the bed, partly undressed, with his head on his knees. Dependence over the murder of a neighbor, highmessenger named Bark over 50 years ago, is given as the reason for Warner's seclusion. Hundreds in the Judith basin believe that Martin committed the crime.

The account which Warner had in the bank is thought to be the proceeds of a sale of cattle made several years ago, when he was in the stock business in the Sweet Grass Hills country southeast of Coeur. Many of the old-timers along the border on the Alberta side remember Warner. He was a character in the cattle country for many years.

In late years, so miserly was Warner that he would not even use decent clothing or bedding, but slept winter and summer in bedsheets composed entirely of gunny sacks. His diet consisted of oatmeal, sour dough bread and potatoes.

HOWELL HARRIS, PIONEER OF THE '70s, DIES IN MONTANA

Noted Old Timer Who Rode Range—When Buffalo Pastured Free Hunted at Fort Benton—Known to Thousands

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 2.—One of the real old timers of the Lethbridge district, whose name was a household word in the homes of the pioneers of Southern Alberta and Northern Montana, passed away in Montana on Monday last in the person of Howell Harris. Burial was made in Fort Benton, where Mrs. Harris is now residing. The late Mr. Harris was 78 years of age, and had a host of friends in Southern Alberta who will grieve to hear that he has passed beyond.

To write the story of the late Howell Harris would be to tell of the development of Alberta from the day of the buffalo herds to the present. Many stories have appeared in the Herald and said by Mr. Harris of the days when the buffalo roamed the plains of Southern Alberta. He has told of the days when he was so numerous that in the migrating period of the year it was impossible to get through. He has told of visiting the spot where Lethbridge now stands in the early seventies, and considering that Lethbridge was not established in 1884, that is a long time.

With I. G. Baker company

The late Mr. Harris is best known to the younger generation of old timers as manager of the Circle Cut company, but before the days when the circle herds roamed the ranges in both the Alberta and Montana sides of the line, Mr. Harris was engaged with the I. G. Baker company, the pioneer riders of Fort Benton, Montana, Macleod, Alberta and Lethbridge. This company was later bought out by the Hudson Bay Co., their rivals for the trade of the Indians in these parts, and that was how the Hudsons Bay company came to Lethbridge. While the I. G. Baker company, whose headquarters were at Fort Benton, Montana, Mr. Harris made many trips into Southern Alberta, and it was on one of these trips that he first saw the site of Lethbridge. At that time he was engaged in outfitting. After the Baker company sold out their commercial interests, Mr. Harris came to Alberta to look after their ranching interests. Later the ranching concern became known as the Central Circle Ranching company with W. G. Conrad, C. E. Conrad and I. G. Baker as the three stockholders. The title of this company ran in thousands on both sides of the line, and it was one of the really big outfits of this part of the west. As settlement crept in on the range the herds of the Circle began to dwindle, and along about 1907 there were few left, though the company still owned considerable land on both sides of the line. Some time after the cattle business of the company was wound up and Howell Harris' life as a cattleman practically came to an end.

Hatched at Bow Island Following this, Mr. Harris bought himself a ranch near Bow Island which he managed successfully for some years, but failing health caused him to spend more and more time in California. He was a man who had lived the hard life of the ranges in his declining years. During the past couple of years he has been living in Montana, his old stamping ground at Fort Benton, headquarters of his old company, calling to him. It was among the scenes of his vigorous youth in Montana that he closed his eyes and his remains were laid to rest at Fort Benton.

While living in Lethbridge Mr. Harris resided on 12th St. South, and his light-colored station was a familiar sight on the streets. Hundreds of old timers throughout Southern Alberta will hear with regret of his death.

SCHOOL FAIR

AT MACLEOD FAIR GROUNDS ON

WED., SEPT. 14, 1921

EXHIBITS OF SCHOOL WORK, DOMESTIC WORK AND VEGETABLES FROM ALL THE SCHOOLS IN MACLEOD DISTRICT

SPLENDID PROGRAMME OF SPORTS

For the children in the afternoon

COME IN CROWDS AND ENCOURAGE THE KIDDIES
Admission to the Grounds Free to All School Children under 15 years;
Adults 25 cents

DANCE IN THE EVENING

IN THE TOWN HALL

FIRST-CLASS MUSIC and REFRESHMENTS
Gentlemen $1.00; Ladies 50 cents—Proceeds for Funds of School Fair

H. MACKINTOSH, President; R. J. E. GARDINER, Secretary.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MURINE
Night
Morning
Keep Your Eyes
Clean - Clear - Healthy

Macleod Supply Co. Ltd.

GROCERIES FRESH FRUITS China and Glass- ware

FOR PRESERVING.

Crabapples and Pears are now here. Do not put off getting these as season is early. We have an extra large box of Crabapples--weighing over 50 lbs.

"The Store of Quality"

Prompt Delivery Service Phone 8

Summer is Going so Must Our SUMMER HATS

All Trimmed Hats . . . Half Price
Straw Shapes for $1.00
Childrens Hats for 25c
Cotton Hats 75c

We carry a good line of plain and fancy ribbons

MISS A. M. WILSON

Reach & Co.

We don't believe in bribery in business, but in hard times it has to be done. Many pocket books are lean, thin and attenuated and it will have to depend upon another harvest before they get fat and plump. Our prices are all very low, but we will bribe you still further by giving you a liberal discount on all cash sales in the Dry Goods--Cash and more Cash is our cry--The disappointment both to debtor and creditor has been keen in their inability to liquidate obligations. You must not run down a store because the articles you want are not on the shelves. Many of you bounce about making remarks that this town is no good, the stores are rotten, because the goods they ask for instead of knocking the stores and town would be sympathetic and large hearted it would be possible to reason with them, saying that they could get something else suitable. Keep their money at home and helping to share the white man's burden.

Reach & Co.

GEO. McFARQUHAR
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
AND EMBALMER
Phone 218

Undertaking rooms on 16th Street, between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, Macleod, Alta.

MOTHER: WHAT ABOUT YOUR BOY?
Send him to Sunday school if you desire that he should never be slung "out of it."

A word to the wise is sufficient. Why miss the good things of life when the cost is so small in proportion to the benefits received.
Just try reading THE LETHBRIDGE DAILY HERALD for a few days and see if you are not pleased and benefited by doing so.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The person who never makes a mistake never makes anything.

Mr. Wesley Walker of Waterton Lakes is spending a few days in Macleod.

Mr. F. Tatham of the Blood Reserve was in Macleod on business on Monday last.

Carroll J. Rogan of the A.P.P. was a visitor to Macleod this week. He is still the same old Jimmy.

Mr. Frank Sullivan of Boston, U.S. was a visitor to Mr. and Mrs. A. Young's residence on Monday last.

Miss Olive Young and Miss Betty Watson were visitors to the Meath ranch at Monarch on Saturday last.

Mr. A. Young and Mr. T. B. Martin made a trip to the Cochrane Lakes on Labor Day and returned with his fine bag of ducks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McElroy of Calgary were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young for several days. Mrs. Argue is a sister of Mr. Arthur Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Argue, Grenfell, Sask. were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young for several days. Mrs. Argue is a sister of Mr. Arthur Young.

Messrs. Raite and Pollard ventured forth in the early hours of last day to wade the poor little ducks. According to the bag they returned with they evidently did.

Miss Ada Benson, of Calgary, is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Benson of Macleod.

On Sunday last a special Masonic church parade was held at Stacey. The service was conducted by the Rev. S. Middleton of Macleod, who is grand chaplain for the province. Those who accompanied the Rev. Middleton from Macleod included Messrs. G. W. Gardner, G. C. Raitt, N. Dilatich and J. S. Lambert.

Mountain View Lodge No. 4 observed decoration day last Sunday. There were nearly twice as many present this year than last year. The visitors met at 3 p.m. and went by to the cemetery, decorated the graves of thirteen brothers.

Mr. A. G. Campbell of Calgary, inspector of the Colonial Investment Loan Co., is here inspecting the different properties of the above company, and also completing arrangements for a quarter section of the celebrated Ross rye, the seed of which is being procured from the National Loan Co.

Mr. F. Cutler, our noted pianist, has made several successful trips to the river within the last few days. He has arrived home with several large bags of grayling. His only complaint is the large number of empty bottles accumulated on the river banks, which, in his estimation, should have been full, when they would have been more appreciated.

The regular monthly meeting of the city fathers was held at the Town Hall on Monday evening last. Present: Mayor J. L. Everett, Councilors McNichol, Macdonald, Gardner and Thevill. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and adopted. The health officer's report for the month was read by the secretary, accepted and duly filed. A building on 16th St. was assessed. After some short discussion it was decided to allow the Salvation Army the use of the old hand uniform. There were several discussions over different matters pertaining to the town which were left over until further reports were obtained on same.

The local baseball team under the captaincy of Macleod, played at Monarch on Monday to play in the baseball tournament. Once again Macleod showed their prowess as they came and walked away with the trophy. In their next game they whitewashed the White Lake aggregation, and meeting Monarch in the finals they managed to take the largest end, and in spite of the fact that Monarch had the redoubtable Seaman pitching for them, Ferguson, pitching for Macleod bank, handled the sphere in a masterly manner and landed the Macleod boys on the safety ridge. Joe Marks was also playing and hit the Lethbridge pitcher without mercy. Please remember in this game Macleod was not pitching, and Macleod still put another notch on the gun.

WANTED, Listings

Land adjacent to Lethbridge Northern Ditch.

GEO. H. SCOUGALL

REAL ESTATE AGENT
MACLEOD — ALBERTA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malby of Nelson, B.C. are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Malby at Macleod.

Dr. and Mrs. Fansett motored to Stirling for the week-end, visiting relatives.

Mr. E. G. Vrooman and Mr. A. Fraser of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation at Barons were visitors to Macleod on Sunday last.

The engineering force from Iron Springs, representing the Lethbridge Stationers, Engineers, and Surveyors, arrived safely at Macleod on route to Banff.

Mr. Koenen, in charge of the party, entertained his friends at the Club. The old timer, Jack Hunter, was as usual on deck. The boys hope to have good shooting for opening of the duck season.

The resignation of Hugh Mackintosh as trustee of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District was placed in the hands of Secretary Dunning on Tuesday of this week at the regular monthly meeting held in Lethbridge and to become effective Dec. 31, 1921. It will be remembered that Mr. Mackintosh was appointed to the position of trustee by the minister of public works in the resignation of Mr. Dunning. He filled out the term of George Chew, whose term did not expire until Dec. 31, 1920, but was disqualified on account of not being a British subject. Mr. Mackintosh's object in resigning from the board was to be able to express their wishes at a poll as to the trustees shall be. Mr. Mackintosh's resignation is a broad view of public matters, and many of the electors are of the opinion that it is a resignation that he shall be returned to the board in December.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allen of Ia Grand, Oregon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of 23rd St. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are accompanied by their young daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Edna. It will likely be remembered that Mr. Allen was at Macleod some eight years since on the occasion of his brother Allen's serious illness. Mr. M. H. Allen says that he has been the beneficiary of his brother's estate, and he believes Macleod's ultimate success depends on the realization of its irrigation project. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Oregon-Washington-Ton Railway & Navigation Co., and a man of affairs in the particular section of Uncle Sam's empire in which he is located. Miss Grace Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen some nine years ago and made many friends here. Miss Edna is enjoying her first visit to Macleod and says she is enjoying it mightily, which we infer to be a compliment to Macleod. Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained their guests to a trip to the Cardston Temple on Wednesday. The party will return to their American home the latter portion of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allen of Ia Grand, Oregon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of 23rd St. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are accompanied by their young daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Edna. It will likely be remembered that Mr. Allen was at Macleod some eight years since on the occasion of his brother Allen's serious illness. Mr. M. H. Allen says that he has been the beneficiary of his brother's estate, and he believes Macleod's ultimate success depends on the realization of its irrigation project. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Oregon-Washington-Ton Railway & Navigation Co., and a man of affairs in the particular section of Uncle Sam's empire in which he is located. Miss Grace Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen some nine years ago and made many friends here. Miss Edna is enjoying her first visit to Macleod and says she is enjoying it mightily, which we infer to be a compliment to Macleod. Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained their guests to a trip to the Cardston Temple on Wednesday. The party will return to their American home the latter portion of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allen of Ia Grand, Oregon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of 23rd St. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are accompanied by their young daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Edna. It will likely be remembered that Mr. Allen was at Macleod some eight years since on the occasion of his brother Allen's serious illness. Mr. M. H. Allen says that he has been the beneficiary of his brother's estate, and he believes Macleod's ultimate success depends on the realization of its irrigation project. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Oregon-Washington-Ton Railway & Navigation Co., and a man of affairs in the particular section of Uncle Sam's empire in which he is located. Miss Grace Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen some nine years ago and made many friends here. Miss Edna is enjoying her first visit to Macleod and says she is enjoying it mightily, which we infer to be a compliment to Macleod. Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained their guests to a trip to the Cardston Temple on Wednesday. The party will return to their American home the latter portion of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allen of Ia Grand, Oregon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of 23rd St. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are accompanied by their young daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Edna. It will likely be remembered that Mr. Allen was at Macleod some eight years since on the occasion of his brother Allen's serious illness. Mr. M. H. Allen says that he has been the beneficiary of his brother's estate, and he believes Macleod's ultimate success depends on the realization of its irrigation project. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Oregon-Washington-Ton Railway & Navigation Co., and a man of affairs in the particular section of Uncle Sam's empire in which he is located. Miss Grace Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen some nine years ago and made many friends here. Miss Edna is enjoying her first visit to Macleod and says she is enjoying it mightily, which we infer to be a compliment to Macleod. Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained their guests to a trip to the Cardston Temple on Wednesday. The party will return to their American home the latter portion of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allen of Ia Grand, Oregon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of 23rd St. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are accompanied by their young daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Edna. It will likely be remembered that Mr. Allen was at Macleod some eight years since on the occasion of his brother Allen's serious illness. Mr. M. H. Allen says that he has been the beneficiary of his brother's estate, and he believes Macleod's ultimate success depends on the realization of its irrigation project. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Oregon-Washington-Ton Railway & Navigation Co., and a man of affairs in the particular section of Uncle Sam's empire in which he is located. Miss Grace Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen some nine years ago and made many friends here. Miss Edna is enjoying her first visit to Macleod and says she is enjoying it mightily, which we infer to be a compliment to Macleod. Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained their guests to a trip to the Cardston Temple on Wednesday. The party will return to their American home the latter portion of the week.

OBITUARY

The death occurred on Sunday, Sept. 4th at Landreck, Alberta, of Beatrice Oral Marlow, aged 23 years. Mrs. Marlow was the wife of George Marlow of Macleod, and was well known in this district. The deceased had been sick for several months past, but her death came as an unexpected blow to relatives and friends. She went to Landreck a few days ago to spend a vacation with her parents, who reside there. She returned to Macleod on Tuesday last, and went back again to Landreck the day following, when she was taken very suddenly ill, suffering acutely from internal trouble, which proved fatal, and she passed away on Sunday, Sept. 4th. The late Mrs. Marlow is survived by her husband, Mr. George Marlow, contractor, of Macleod, and a daughter, Mrs. Muriel, aged five years. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welsh of Landreck and was married to Mr. Marlow last August six years ago. The funeral took place from the Presbyterian church at Cowley on Tuesday, Sept. 6th, in the interment at the Cowley cemetery. A large number of sorrowful friends and relatives attended to pay their last respects to the deceased and many beautiful floral tokens were in evidence.

BEAVER CREEK NEWS

Nearly all the grain in the hills is new in stock. In most places there will be a very poor yield, while in others the report is very good. By a large measure, the yield of the hills is being and it is expected that there will be nearly as much threshed in the hills as last year.

Though feed is somewhat scarce this year than last a great number of farmers will have enough feed to feed the stock through the coming winter.

Mr. Reardon is harvesting the first crop of sunflowers to be grown for feed in the hills.

Mr. T. M. Brown is at present putting in the hills.

AUTO LIVERY

Phone 215 or 105
BILLY WILKINSON

ting up hay on his North Fork ranch. He reports the hay very light, but being foot and oak very good.

The Hunter Bros. claim they will have plenty of feed this year. They have nearly finished their new barn, which is in a commodious and excellent building.

The Beaver Creek Stock Association is proving a very good success; and several farmers are taking advantage of permits to get cattle in on the first reserve for summer grazing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jones were business visitors to Macleod on Saturday last.

Miss Theil, who is teaching Porcupine Hills School was in Macleod last week on a visit to her folks.

Mr. E. Walker is now forest ranger and game warden over the Porcupine Hills branch of the Dominion Forest Reserve.

CANADIAN AIR FORCE

Mr. R. F. Barnes has been appointed recreation officer for the Canadian air force.

All persons joining the air course receive a course of training at Camp Borden. This is an excellent opportunity to learn a trade free of expense during the winter months. Those who show ability may be attached to the permanent staff and receive double the rate of pay of their rank.

All wishing to join should call on Mr. Barnes at his office without delay, so that transportation to Camp Borden may be arranged.

Notice of terms of service, etc., will be handed to recruits prior to attention.

Terms of Service
Enlistment for six years with service on training duty of 28 days, exclusive of travelling time to and from the base, and one year of continuous training camp and at a time mutually arranged between recruit and commanding officer. Periods of staff duty at camps are optional to recruits. If an recruit is discharged from the staff establishment, these periods extend from three to six months or less at services of no longer than required. The periods between periods of duty will be on leave without pay.

Rates of Pay
Warrant Officer $250
Flight Sergeant 150
Sergeant 145
Corporal 125
First Air Mechanic 115
Second Air Mechanic 100
Airman employed on staff duties for more than the normal training period will receive double the above rates, up to twice monthly duty.

Period of paid service will be from departure from home to date of return home.

Dependent's Allowance
On active service for 12 months of peace when an airman is posted for duty for more than a month at any place more than 25 miles from his place of residence, there shall be payable to or for the benefit of his dependent or dependents in the case of Air-Mechanics, 1st and 2nd class, $30 per month; and Warrant Officers and Non-commissioned Officers, $25 per month; provided that no dependent has claimed any travelling allowance in respect of such tour of duty for quarters for the airman and his dependent or dependents are not available at the place to which he is posted for duty.

Transportation
Transportation expenses between place of residence and camp, and vice versa, including berth and family transportation for members allotted married quarters, within established limits will be paid.

Travelling Allowance
Travelling allowance is the rate of $5.00 per day when not supplied with berth or meals, and when supplied with berth only, in excess of three-quarters the above rates.

Uniforms
A certain number of married quarters at camp will be available for the members of the staff who are desirous of married quarters, and rates may be had for the families on repayment at current rate values.

Promotions
On enlistment airmen will be given the rank of 2nd A. M. unless they give proof of a higher rank held in the R.A.F. On such proof being shown, the higher rank may be granted the holder.

Promotion will be made from time to time within the establishment, on merit, and on the results of examination. Rank held in a previous corps will be considered.

Recruits should bring all documents relating to previous service with them appointed graduation will largely depend on their initial promotion and depend on such documents.

In one respect we suppose Bud Fisher lays it over all other artists living or dead. He has better horses. He paid $75,000 for one the other day.

Do you remember the quaint old days when we used to fear what we called "pesticidal government"? The

MADE-TO-MEASURE CLOTHING

THE NEW FALL SAMPLES IN MEN'S MADE TO MEASURE SUITS AND OVERCOATS HAVE ARRIVED
A public have been looking for a big drop in the price. In this they will not be disappointed as the highest price this year is $52.00—a suit which a year ago retailed at $100.00.

I HAVE THE BIGGEST RANGE TO CHOOSE FROM that was ever shown in Macleod, in "The Art" made by Cook Bros. and Allen, and the "Master Built" made by Laitley Trimble.

THE PRICES START IN AT $36.50

J. T. MARKS

SAVE MONEY ON FOOTWEAR

BUY YOUR SHOES AT THE U.F.A. STORE

- MEN'S HARVESTER SHOES $2.95
 - MEN'S B. C. RIDING CONGRESS $8.25
 - MEN'S SMOKE CALF BLUCHERS $7.75
 - MEN'S BLACK CALF BLUCHERS $7.25
 - MEN'S VELOUR CALF BLUCHERS $7.95
 - MEN'S WORK SHOES $4.95
 - MEN'S AND BOYS' TENNIS SHOES REDUCED PRICES
 - CHILDREN'S SANDALS—sizes 4 to 11½—CLEARING BELOW COST
- REAL MONEY SAVING PRICES

U.F.A. Co-Operative Association H. H. McLEAN, Mgr. MACLEOD

LADIES' WINTER COATS

First shipment of Ladies' Winter Coats just to hand, assorted sizes and colors--- Call in and look them over.

R. T. BARKER

The Smile of Anticipation

that will inevitably irradiate your countenance when the food is placed before you will grow into a broader one of satisfaction after you have finished your meal here. Come and test the matter for yourself. You'll certainly want to repeat the experience.

CLUB CAFE

D. M. LEYDEN Funeral Director & Embalmer

Orders left with the K.A.Y. Realty Co. will be promptly attended to.

Day Calls—Phone 269.
Night Calls—Phone 14.

The shooting on the Rowe place (formerly Franklin), has been leased by Mr. Rowe to a party of town-people and no other persons are allowed to shoot there. 25-31

Four was removed when the ladies discarded the garment in question.