INTRODUCTION.

IT is with pleasure and satisfaction we introduce, to patrons and friends, Vol. III. of THE CANADIAN ALBUM. This is a Maritime Province volume, as well as of Manitoba and the North-West, reaching as far west as British Columbia, with a few scattering portraits from other parts of the Dominion. No province is fully represented in any one volume, but by the time the work is finished, it is expected to include the entire territory of British North America, and fairly represent leading citizens of every profession and avocation. It is impossible to produce, in any work, the portrait and history of every worthy citizen in the Dominion, but the publishers and editor, are striving to the utmost to make the work as complete as possible.

In order that this ideal may be reached, at least approximately, the churches will be canvassed both in cities and towns, and also in rural districts, for the men who are deemed worthy of a place in these pages, and whose portraits and biographies are most likely to be of interest and value to the present and future generations.

It has been found, as was to be expected, that with few exceptions, the representative men of the country are either officials, members or adherents of some religious body. In Canada, whatever may be said of the defects of churches, the Church is the rallying place for the men who are carrying on the affairs of State, from the Dominion Parliament and Local Legislature, down to the smallest village council, and from our leading universities, down to the humble country school. The Church is the home of the men who are engaged in the moral and religious elevation of the masses, and in initiating and carrying on those measures of social reform which are necessary in every civilized country.

It will be found, therefore, that the pages of these volumes are largely taken up with representative members of churches and their pastors. In succeeding volumes it will, doubtless, be very much the same, so that when the publication is completed it will embrace nearly all the clergymen of the Dominion, with many of their co-workers, and other representative men, a fact which makes it of almost priceless value, not only in the present but in future years. The editor bespeaks for the publishers, in their arduous and costly undertaking, the hearty co-operation of the representative men in our churches, in helping to select the men who ought to be chronicled in its pages.

A work so extensive, and requiring the skill of so many hands, demands time and perseverance, but that it can be accomplished, with the aid of patriotic Canadians, the publishers have no reason to doubt.

Wm. Cochrane

HON. ARCHIBALD W. McLELAN, late Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, was born December 24th, 1824, at Londonderry, N.S. His father was Gloud Wilson McLelan, and his mother Martha (Spencer) McLelan. The former was a member of the Nova Scotia Assembly, representing Londonderry and Colchester, from 1836 to 1858, and died in 1858. Mr. McLelan was educated at Londonderry and Mount Allison Wesleyan Academy, at Sackville, N. B. During his early life, he was a merchant for several years, and latterly became particularly interested in ship building. Mr. McLelan was a member of the Provincial Assembly, for the County of Colchester from 1858 to 1863, for Northern Colchester from 1863 to 1867, and for Colchester in the House of Commons from 1867 to June 21st, 1869, when he entered the Senate, at which time he was appointed one of the commissioners for the construction of the Intercolonial Railway. He remained in the Senate until 1881, when he resigned and returned to the Commons until 1888. During the illness of Hon. J. C. Pope, in 1882, Mr. McLelan discharged his duties in the House of Commons, and at the next General Elections took the office of Marine and Fisheries, which he held until the retirement of Hon. Sir S. L. Tilley, in 1885, when he became Minister of Finance. In 1887, on the return of Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, he took the office of Postmaster General, which office he held until his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, in 1888. He was taken ill at the Government House, Halifax, and ordered by his physician to go to the Southern States for his health. He did so, arriving at Thomasville, Ga., February 6th, 1889. He returned from Georgia June 15th, 1890, and died at the Government House, June 26th of that year. In religion, he was a Presbyterian. He was married May 24th, 1854, to Miss Caroline, fifth daughter of the late John Metzler, of Halifax. His family consisted of three children.

HON. SIR CHARLES TUPPER, Bart., G.C.M.G., C.B., LL.D., M.D., was born in 1821, at Amherst, N. S. His father was the late Rev. Charles Tupper, D.D., of Aylesford, N. S. He obtained the degrees of L.R.C.S. and M.D., in Edinburgh, in 1843, and after following medicine for fourteen years, abandoned it for politics, and became Prime Minister of Nova Scotia in 1864. He organized the Conference at Charlottetown, in 1864, for the union of the Maritime Provinces under one Government, which led to the final Colonial Conference in London in 1866-67, and the passing of the British North America Act in 1867, establishing the Dominion of Canada, and bringing Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario under one administration. For the services rendered in the matter, Dr. Tupper was made a Companion of the Order of the Bath. In 1870, he joined the Ministry of the late Sir John Macdonald, and in 1879, received the order of knighthood. He introduced and carried the Acts dealing with the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In the completion of this great work, he saw the future prosperity of his country, and worked with heart and soul to aid in attaining this, one of the first and greatest of commercial enterprises. In 1884, Sir Charles Tupper succeeded Sir Alexander Galt, as High Commissioner for Canada, in London, and though leaving the vexations and enervating influence of political life, had to undertake duties quite as arduous, requiring all the tact and power which he possesses. The first three per cent. colonial loan he negotiated for Canada in 1888, and the £4,000,000 was subscribed several times over, and an average price of £95 1s. od. per cent. obtained. He was joint Imperial Plenipotentiary with Lord Sackville and the Right Honorable Joseph Chamberlain, in the negotiation of the Washington Treaty of 1888, dealing with the Atlantic fisheries and other questions in dispute between Canada and the United States, and in that year was created a baronet.

JAMES STEWART TUPPER, Q.C., Winnipeg, Man., was born October 26th, 1851, at Amherst, N.S. He is the eldest son of Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., G.C.M.G., C.B. He received his education at McGill University, taking his degree of B.A. in May, 1871, with first rank honors. He was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1875, of Manitoba in 1882, and was created a Queen's Counsel in 1890. He is now a member of the well-known legal firm of Macdonald, Tupper, Phippen & Tupper, of Winnipeg. In politics, he is a Liberal-Conservative, and in religion a member of the Church of England. Mr. Tupper has been married twice: first, September 8th, 1875, to Mary Eilson, daughter of the late Andrew Robertson, of "Elm Bank," Montreal, who died August 7th, 1876, leaving one daughter: he was married again on June 9th, 1880, to Ada Campbell, daughter of Hon. Sir Thomas Galt, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas of Ontario. His family consists of three daughters and one son. Mr. Tupper is a very popular and progressive citizen of Manitoba, having the prosperity of the country greatly at heart. He stands high in the esteem and respect of the public.

NATHANIEL CURRY, Mayor of Amherst, N. S., President and General Manager of Rhodes, Curry & Co., Ltd., was born in 1851, in Kings Co., N. S. His parents were Charles Curry and Eunice Davidson of Scotch-Irish and English descent, respectively. He was educated at the common and private schools of Kings Co. He began life on a farm, subsequently went to sea, later served four years at the cabinet making trade, and nine months as master builder. He then spent several years as mill wright and car builder, and in 1877, settled in Amherst, and established the firm of Rhodes, Curry & Co., manufacturers and builders. He took a leading part in getting Amherst incorporated, was a member of its first council and was elected Mayor in 1894. He was chairman of the Water Commissioners, who have just completed a fine system of water works at a cost of $80,000. He is a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and of the Knights of Pythias. In politics, he is an active Conservative, and in religion a Baptist. He was married, September 17th, 1881, to Mary E. Hall, daughter of David and Margaret Hall, of Annapolis Co., N. S. His family consists of five sons.

S. Mr. MacKay began teaching in 1865. He graduated from the Provincial Normal School in 1866, from the Pictou Academy in 1868, from the University of Dalhousie in 1873, and from the Halifax University in 1880. He was Principal of Annapolis Academy in 1873, of Pictou Academy from 1873 to 1889, and of Halifax Academy from 1889 to 1891. Ladies' College, and a governor of the University of Dalhousie. He held the appointment of lecturer in Zoology at Dalhousie, and in Bacteriology in the Halifax Medical College in 1891. In 1892, the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Dalhousie, and in 1893, he was appointed one of the honorary vice-presidents of the World's Educational Congress at Chicago. His parents, John and Isabella (Truithwaite) Norquay, were both of Orkney descent. He received his education at St. John's College Winnipeg. Leaving college, he engaged in school teaching and agricultural pursuits until 1870, the date of Manitoba's entry into Confederation, when he was elected to represent High Bluff. He quickly rose to the front as a man of sound judgment, and without any Parliamentary practice, appeared to be quite in his element on the floor of the House. A strong debater, a man of quick comprehensive mind and withal a ruggedly eloquent speaker, he stood easily with the front rank politicians of the day. In stature he was large and well proportioned, bluff and hearty in manner, generous, even to a fault, and had the faculty in a wonderful degree of remembering names and faces. He belonged to the Masonic fraternity. He was a member of the Board of Health and Board of Education in Manitoba, a member of the Executive Council and Minister of Public Works and Agriculture for Manitoba, from December 14th, 1871, until July 8th, 1874, when he resigned with his colleagues. He was appointed to the new Government in March, 1875, taking the portfolio of Provincial Secretary. This office he relinquished for that of Minister of Public Works in May, 1876. In October, 1878, Mr. Norquay was called upon to form a Cabinet in which he held the office of Provincial Treasurer. He sat for High Bluff from 1870 to 1874, when he was returned for St. Andrews, which he represented until the redistribution (1888), which abolished that constituency and included it in Kildonan, which he sat for at the time of his death. He belonged to the Episcopal Church and was warden of the Church where he resided and delegate to the annual Synods. He left a wife, two daughters and five sons.

EDWARD BENSON, M.D., of Bensonhurst, Winnipeg, Man., was born April 22nd, 1843, in Peterboro, Ont. His father was Lieut.-Col. John Robinson Benson, who came to Canada with his parents from the North of Ireland in 1819. He was one of the pioneers of Peterboro County, and rose by perseverance and industry, to be a leading mill owner and lumber merchant, and being of sterling principles, was held in universal esteem. He died in 1876. His widow Catharine (Lee) Benson, who survives him and resides in Winnipeg, is a woman of bright Christian character, whose chief solicitude has always been for the higher interests of her family. Dr. Benson was educated at Peterboro Grammar School, Victoria Medical College, Toronto, Kentucky University, from which he graduated in 1864, Bellevue Hospital and Medical College, New York, where he graduated in 1865, and again at Victoria from which he took his final degree in 1866. He practiced a time in Peterboro, then in Lindsay, Ont., for seven years. In 1874, he removed to Winnipeg, where he has practiced ever since, and where he now enjoys a wide and well established patronage. His position as chairman of the Winnipeg School Board, trustee and steward of Grace Methodist Church, Coroner for the Province of Manitoba, one of the directors of the first Winnipeg Agricultural Society, jail surgeon for eighteen years, and a surgeon of the North-West field forces during the Rebellion of 1885, show in some degree at least the interest he takes in public questions, and the appreciation in which his services are held. He is also president of the Winnipeg branch of the Globe Savings and Loan Co., of Toronto. In politics, the Doctor is a staunch Conservative, and an influential worker during Parliamentary campaigns. He is a member of the A.F. & A.M., the I.O.O.F. and the I.O.F. In 1874, Dr. Benson was married to Annie Campbell, daughter of Capt. A. Campbell of Colborne, Ont., a member of the Campbell Clan of the Argyle family. He has three sons.

CLIFFORD SIFTON, Attorney General and Provincial Lands Commissioner of Manitoba, Barrister, Brandon, Man., was born March 10th, 1861, in London Township, Middlesex County, Ont. His parents, who are still living and reside in Winnipeg, are John W. Sifton (formerly Speaker of the Manitoba Legislature) and Kate Sifton, whose maiden name was Watkins. He was educated at the London High School and Victoria University, Cobourg, where he took honors and the Gold Medal. He afterwards studied law with S. C. Biggs, of Winnipeg. On being called to the Bar, he removed to Brandon, Man., where he has practiced his profession continuously ever since, and has succeeded in building up an extensive legal connection. He stands high in the estimation of his brethren at the Bar as an able and conscientious lawyer.

Mr. Sifton has never taken any part in municipal matters, except that he was appointed City Solicitor for Brandon and of the Western Judicial Board. In 1888, he was elected to the Provincial Legislature of Manitoba, and was sworn a member of the Executive Council, and appointed Attorney General in 1891, upon which he was re-elected. Attorney General Sifton is one of the ablest speakers in Manitoba, if not in the Dominion. His appointment to the position of Attorney General was received with universal satisfaction, and he has since proven himself well worthy of the high honor. He is rapid, clear, logical, not verbose, and has never been discounted on any platform or on any question which he has discussed. He is of a retiring disposition and manner, except among his intimate acquaintances, and is popular with all. In religion, Mr. Sifton is a member of the Methodist Church, and holds the office of trustee in his church in Brandon, and is active in all good work. He was married, on the 13th of August, 1884, to Miss Elizabeth Anna Burrows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burrows, of Ottawa, Ontario. His family consists of four sons.

THE HON. JOHN DONALD CAMERON, B. A., Barrister, Provincial Secretary for Manitoba, Winnipeg, Man., was born in 1858, in the Township of East Nissouri, Oxford Co., Ont. He is the son of John and Elizabeth Cameron, of Scottish descent. He was educated at the Woodstock High School, Woodstock College and St. Catharines Collegiate Institute, and at University College, Toronto, where he graduated, in 1879, with first-class honors in both the Science and the Arts courses, winning the Gold Medal in each. He then studied law in Toronto, and was called to the Ontario Bar in 1882, and to that of Manitoba in the same year. In January, 1892, he was elected to represent South Winnipeg in the Local Legislature, in place of Mr. Isaac Campbell, Q. C., who had resigned, and was re-elected at the General Elections in July of the same year. In January, 1893, he was sworn in a member of the Executive Council, holding the offices of Provincial Secretary and Municipal Commissioner, and was afterwards re-elected by acclamation. Mr. Cameron is a Liberal in politics, and has always been an able and trusted leader of his party. In religion he belongs to the Presbyterian Church.

THE HONORABLE THOMAS GREENWAY, Premier of Manitoba, was born March 25th, 1838, in Cornwall, England. He is the eldest son of the late Thomas Greenway. His parents came to Canada in 1844, and settled in the Township of Darlington, Durham County, Ont., where Mr. Greenway attended school. In 1848, they removed to Huron County, where he continued his education. He left home when thirteen years of age, and after living some years in London, Ont. and in the Western States, returned to the County of Huron, and became established in mercantile business, near Exeter. He was ten years reeve of the Township of Stephen, and was a member of the House of Commons, for South Huron, representing the Liberal party, from 1875 to 1878. In 1878, he went to Manitoba, and was elected to the Legislature of that province, December, 1879, and in 1888, he was elected Premier. He is an adherent of the Methodist Church, and a man of great force of character. Premier Greenway has been married twice, first, in January, 1860, to Miss Annie Hicks, who died in May, 1875, and again in 1877, to Miss Emma Essery. His family consists of eight sons and six daughters.

COL. D. H. McMILLAN, Provincial Treasurer, Winnipeg, Man., was born in January, 1846, in Ontario County, Ont. His parents were James and Eleanor McMillan. He received his education at the public and Grammar schools of Ontario. He represented Winnipeg in the Provincial Legislature, from 1879 to 1882, and Centre Winnipeg, from July, 1888, to the present time, in the interests of the Liberal party. He has been a member of the Government, holding portfolio of Provincial Treasurer, since May, 1889. Since 1871, he has been a member of the Masonic Fraternity, holding thirty-three degree in Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, and has also always taken an active part in military matters. He went to Winnipeg in 1870, on the Red River expedition, under Col. (now Lord) Wolseley, in command of A Company, First Ontario Rifles. He was senior major of 95th Battalion, during North-West troubles, in 1885, and commanded the battalion as lieutenant-col., since 1886. In 1864, served four months at Niagara, in Provisional Battalion, under Col. Drewry, and during the Fenian raid, in 1866, served at Port Colborne and Fort Erie. Col. McMillan is very popular with all parties.

WILLIAM PURVES, Merchant, North Sydney, C. B., was born in 1834, at Pictou, N. S. He is the son of James Purves and Jane Corbett, both natives of Pictou. His father was a prominent ship builder and merchant, a member of the firm of Stephen Lowrey & Co., of Newcastle, C. B., who were pioneer merchants and traders in Nova Scotia. His mother was the daughter of William Corbett, of Pictou. Mr. Purves was educated at the Pictou Academy, after which he began business life as a merchant. He has been a member of the firm of Archibald & Co., since 1857. This firm began business in Cape Breton in 1833, and has been from the outset engaged in every enterprise of importance on the Island of Cape Breton, namely, fisheries, ship building and mining, they having opened the Gowrie Mines and been its proprietors for many years. Mr. Purves has been mayor of North Sydney since its incorporation in 1885, without intermission, and still holds that office. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and in politics, a Conservative. He was married, in 1870, to Abbie Maud Dickson, of Truro, N.S. His family consists of five children, four sons and one daughter.

For some time, he taught the "Wigg Grammar School," which has produced so many of the prominent men of the Island, after which for a year and a half he taught in the Souris Grammar School. In 1880, he was appointed a professor in the Prince of Wales College and Normal School by a Conservative government, although in politics, a Liberal, which proves that the position was received by qualification only. This position he held for eleven years. In 1891, Mr. McLeod received his present appointment. Some months previous to his acceptance of his present position, he was offered by the Charlottetown City School Board, the inspectorship of the city schools (so that he has either held or has been offered every position in educational matters in the Province that is worth having) but the then Premier (now Judge McLeod) rather than lose his valuable services, promptly decided to give him an increase in his salary. Chief Superintendent McLeod takes a great interest in his work, and in educational matters in general. He has lately taken an extended tour through the Eastern States and Ontario, with the view to examining into their various school systems, that he might engraft their best features into that over which he is presiding so progressively and successfully. Mr. McLeod takes a great interest in horticulture, and is also well known in musical circles, being one of the founders of the Philharmonic Society. In December, 1882, Mr. McLeod was married to Miss Margaret McPherson, daughter of Mr. John McPherson, of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, formerly of Glasgow, Scotland. His family consists of four children, two sons and two daughters.

THE LATE HON. GILBERT McMICKEN, Winnipeg, Man., was born at Glenluce, Wigtonshire, Scotland, on the historic "13th of October, 1813." He came to Canada in 1832, and in 1838, was appointed Collector of Customs at Queenston, and was chief promotor of the Queenston Suspension Bridge, holding over one quarter of the stock. In 1851, he was warden of the united counties of Lincoln and Welland, was first mayor of Clifton, and in 1852, was appointed Collector of Customs at Clifton, Woodstock, Ingersoll and London. In 1857, was elected M. P. for Welland. In 1860, Mr. McMicken removed to Windsor, and in 1864, was appointed Stipendiary Magistrate over the whole frontier of Western Canada, and successfully allayed the Fenian excitement, especially in the cities of Detroit and Buffalo, for which he received the special thanks of Lord Monck. He extradited several notorious criminals, as in the Burley piracy, and Reno and Anderson, and Morton and Thomson cases, and arranged settlement of the disputed international boundary line at the St. Clair Flats Canal. Mr. McMicken supervised the protection of the Parliamentary buildings, upon the murder of the Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, and protected by convoy several illustrious persons in their journeys through Canada, notably H. R. H. Prince Arthur, in 1869, from whom he received cherished souvenirs. In 1871, he was appointed agent of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Assistant-Receiver General, Dominion Auditor, Immigration agent, and manager of the Dominion Government Savings Bank, and in 1878, retired on superannuation. In 1879, he was elected M. P. P. for Cartier, and was honored with the Speaker's chair. February 13th, 1835, he married Ann Theresa Duff, grand-daughter of Commodore (afterwards Hon.) Alex. Grant. On March 7th, 1891, Mr. McMicken died, leaving an unsullied name, and a character of sterling integrity. Three sons survive him, Alexander, Hamilton Grant and Albert Clifton.

J. WALTER ALLISON, Manufacturer, Halifax, N. S., was born in 1850, at Newcastle, N. B. His parents were Henry B. Allison and Sarah Abrams Allison. When he was four years of age, the family removed to Sackville, N. B., where his boyhood was passed. He received his education at Mount Allison Academy and College, institutions founded by his uncle, the late Charles F. Allison. In 1871, he went to Halifax, where he began his commercial career as book-keeper with Messrs. Doull & Miller, wholesale dry goods men. He subsequently went into the commission business, but was prevented from going very far in that direction by an invitation to enter into partnership with the late John P. Mott, chocolate and cocoa manufacturer. He accepted the opportunity, and in 1876, his name appeared as a member of the firm, of which he has been an active member ever since. His first business was on the road, at the outset through the Maritime Provinces only, then into Quebec and Ontario, and in the later years of his travels, in the western part of Canada only. His attention at first was confined chiefly to the confectioners' trade, with which he was soon successful in securing for the preparations he represented a leading position. Since the death of Mr. Mott, in 1890, Mr. Allison has been in his present position of manager and executor of the estate, which is above three-quarters of a million of dollars in value. He holds several responsible positions in financial, commercial and insurance institutions. He is a director of the New Glasgow Iron, Coal and Railway Co., the Eastern Fire Assurance Co., and the Nova Scotia Coastal Steam Packet Co., and is president of the Nova Scotia Permanent Benefit Building Society and Savings Fund, which is one of the oldest monetary institutions in the Maritime Provinces. In politics, he is a Liberal-Conservative, and in religion a member of the Church of England. He was married in 1876, to Miss Mary Prescott, daughter of the late Charles T. Prescott, Esq., of Baie Verte, N. B.

JAMES FISHER, M.A., M.P.P., Winnipeg, Man., was born in Glenquhaich, Perthshire, Scotland, November 6th, 1841. He came to Canada with his parents when young, and settled in Perth County, Ont. He received his education at the Stratford High School and Toronto University. He then studied law in Stratford, and afterwards in the office of the Hon. Edward Blake, Toronto. He was admitted to the Ontario Bar in 1867, and practiced his profession until 1883, in Stratford, where he was twice selected by the Reform party as their standard bearer to contest North Perth, a strong Conservative riding in Dominion contests; he was defeated by small majorities. In 1883, Mr. Fisher removed to Winnipeg, and in 1888, was elected to the Legislature by a large majority. In 1892, he was returned by acclamation. He is also a member of the Board of Management and Senate of Manitoba College, and a member of the Council of the University of Manitoba. In Federal politics, he is a staunch Liberal, a strong supporter and a warm admirer of Hon. Wilfred Laurier, but in local politics, he is at variance with the Liberal Government of Manitoba on many points, and takes an absolutely independent position. He opposed the Manitoba School Act of 1890, believing that the mixed population of Manitoba would be better suited by such a school law as Ontario enjoys. He is president of the International Reciprocity Association, and took a very active part in its first two conventions at Grand Forks, Dak., in 1892, and at St. Paul, Minn., in 1893. He advocates the deepening of our canals, the expenses to be borne jointly by the United States and Dominion, and has written a pamphlet on this subject, entitled: "Our Highways to the Sea." Mr. Fisher was married in July, 1871, to Fannie Gordon, daughter of the late Rev. T. Macpherson, of Stratford, who died in 1890. His family consists of one son and two daughters. He is the son of the late Captain John Allen and Ann Blair, both of New Brunswick. After completing his education at the different schools and the Collegiate Institute, Fredericton, he studied law with the Hon. John Simcoe Saunders, Fredericton, and was admitted an attorney in 1838, sworn in as barrister in 1840. During 1845-47, he was commissioner for settling the claims to lands in the Madawaska settlement, under the Treaty of Washington, 1842, and for twelve years was official reporter of the Supreme Court of the Province. He was a member of the House of Assembly from 1856 to 1865, Solicitor General in 1856-57, Speaker of the House from 1863 to 1865, Attorney General in 1865, and in the latter year was also a delegate from the government of New Brunswick to the Government of England, on the subject of Confederation, and on his return from England, was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court, and in 1875, Chief Justice of the Province. In 1878, he was appointed one of the arbitrators to settle the northwest boundaries of the Province of Ontario, the other arbitrators being Sir E. Thornton, the British Minister at Washington, and the late Chief Justice Harrison. But Chief Justice Allen being engaged in an important criminal trial, Sir E. Thornton was unable to longer delay, and Chief Justice Allen resigned the appointment. In 1845, the Chief Justice married Margaret, daughter of the late Lieut.-Col. Drury, of St. John, N. B. In October, 1888, he was presented by the Bar of St. John with a valuable piece of plate, it being the 50th anniversary of his admission to the legal profession, and in April, 1893, the Bar of the Province presented to the Supreme Court a life size portrait of the Chief Justice, which now hangs in the Supreme Court room at Fredericton. In religion, he is a member of the Church of England.

After the war, he returned to Canada, and engaged in railway construction. Section "A" of the C. P. R. was let by the Government on his tender, he completing a section of the work. In 1882, he became actively engaged in several contracts on the Lake Superior section of that railway, under the North American Contracting Company, (i. e. the C. P. R. Co.), and it was in connection with one of these contracts that the now famous case of Conmee vs. the C. P. R. arose. Mr. Conmee was for several years a councillor of Port Arthur, and was elected mayor in 1885; during that year also he was elected the first member for West Algoma for the Ontario Legislature, an office which he has since held. In 1889, he became engaged in the building of the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway, which was completed in 1892. Mr. Conmee has been the means of placing some useful legislation on the Statute Books of the Province, among which may be mentioned the provisions of the Municipal Water Works Act, which gives the ratepayers the right to petition their council, also the Mining Schools Act, a much needed measure, by which the youth of Ontario may acquire scientific instruction in metallurgy and a practical knowledge of minerals, etc. Although a Liberal, he opposed the imposition of royalties on minerals, as enacted by the Mowat Administration in 1891, and it was owing to his efforts that the law was modified in 1892. From January, 1888, until May, 1891, Mr. Martin was Attorney General and Railway Commissioner. While in the Government as Railway Commissioner, he took charge of the fight against the C. P. R. monopoly, and as Attorney General, courageously introduced and carried through the School Act of 1890, abolishing separate schools in the Province of Manitoba, and the Act doing away with the official use of the French language. Mr. Martin argued the question of the constitutionality of the School Act of 1890, before Judge Killam in the first place, the full Court of Queen's Bench in Manitoba, and the Supreme Court. He also appeared with Sir Horace Davey and Dalton McCarthy before the Privy Council in the same case. Mr. Martin, as might be expected, took charge of the Department of Education, under the new regime. twenty-three thousand acres, and he manages his extensive stock raising and farming operations, in person. Mr. Boyd is of a retiring disposition, and has many times refused the honor of public office. He, however, was induced to oppose the Hon. At that time, application was made on behalf of the Conference of Eastern British America, for men, and after due consideration, he concluded to come to America, arriving at Halifax, 28th of June, 1872. After spending his first year in this country, he has never removed from a station until his full term of three years has expired. He stood high in mathematics, and his teachers were some of the most distinguished professors of the religious order. Mr. Bousquet, who possessed more than an ordinary aptitude for figures, soon attracted the attention of the professors, who took an interest in breaking to him the secrets of the arduous science, to which he somewhat owes his high position in the financial world. Not only in mathematics did he excel, but during each term he was at the college, he carried off prizes. At the age of sixteen he began life for himself, and for three years was employed in a grocery store as book-keeper, which position he left to enter the People's Bank, in which institution he held all the offices, up to that of manager. It was predicted that the young mathematician of Longueuil College, would create for himself, by his talent and hard study, a high position. He did not lose his love of mathematical study, but on the contrary not only delights himself in it, but has added to it the science of political economy, to which he continues to add the every day observation, which his position permits him to do. Mr. Bousquet is one of those men of the future, who will count in French Canadian nationality. The last report of the People's Bank, shows for that institution, a very progressive standing, which is due to a great extent to its manager's zeal and grasp of financial questions, and his speeches delivered at each of the general meetings of the shareholders are worthy of the careful consideration of business men. There are but few men who have made such rapid progress in so short a time. His career is an illustration of what intelligence, principle and energy will accomplish.

He came to Canada, over fifty years ago, with his parents, John and Janet (Peden) Chalmers, who were the first white settlers in Mornington Township, Perth County, Ont. He was therefore, one of those "sturdy sons of Scotland," whose "brawn and brain" have so largely contributed to make "the Garden of Canada," what it is. In religion, Mr. Chalmers was a Presbyterian, and in politics, a staunch Reformer, and years ago a prominent member of his Municipal Board. He died January 1st, 1892, and the immense concourse at his funeral, was a touching and genuine tribute to the universal respect in which he was held. His name was a synonym for integrity, hospitality and those traits that go to make up an obliging neighbor, and an esteemed citizen. He was a self-made man in every respect, a voluminous reader, had a wonderful memory, and was a man of superior intelligence and broad views. Since being there, he has built a very large convent, which is under the supervision of the Sisters of Charity. In 1879, the church was nearly destroyed by a cyclone, and most of the buildings around were destroyed. He then built a large presbytery. After the destruction of the church by the cyclone, it was rebuilt, but in May, 1886, it was burnt to the ground, and after the frame work had again been erected, it was blown down. The new church is now (1893) nearly completed, and is a very fine building. Father Michaud drew himself the plans of all those buildings, and superintended the whole work personally. Many men would have been discouraged by all these disasters, but it was not so with Father Michaud, they only served to nerve him with renewed energy and determination to erect a building more worthy of the Roman Catholic Church, and better fitted for the worship of Almighty God. While the misfortunes to the Church were supposed to be disastrous to the religious welfare of the people, yet in the Providence of God, they have resulted in good. Father Michaud takes a great interest in encouraging farming, and superintends what is known as the Model Farm, for the benefit of his parishioners. In 1881, he accompanied the Bishop to Rome.

His father was the late Hugh Campbell, Esq., formerly of Killin, Scotland, but a settler in Glengarry, Canada, since 1832, a quiet unassuming gentleman, whose name was a synonym for integrity and honorable dealing. His mother, the late Catherine (McLaurin) Campbell, was a lady of education and refinement, who spoke fluently three languages. Prof. Campbell received his early education at the common school of his district, and for some years attended the Grammar School at Vankleek Hill. He is a graduate with the highest distinction of the American Institute of Phrenology, and takes front rank in the profession. Many who are now prosperous in the business pointed out to them by Professor Campbell, as suitable to their capacities, can testify to the value of his advice in aiding young persons to the choice of their right sphere for usefulness and success in life. The press speaks of his lectures as highly moral in tone, and very instructive. Mr. Campbell may be regarded as a self-made man, and is by nature a student. Next to the reading necessarily connected with his profession, he has a predilection for linguistic studies, and has four languages at ready command. FREDERICK ROGERS, D.C.L., Barrister, etc., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was born in Derbyshire, Eng., May 9th, 1857. Mr. Rogers came to Canada when about 16 years of age. He subsequently studied law with Messrs. MacMahon & Gibbons, London, Ont., and was called to the Bar in 1880. In 1882, he removed to Sault Ste. Marie, where he has since practiced his profession. In June, 1888, he completed his course in Civil Law at Trinity University, Toronto, and received from that institution the degree of B.C.L., and the degree of D.C.L. in 1893. Dr. Rogers is prominently connected with what is known, as "The Colonization and Immigration Movement in Algoma." Some two years ago, on the formation of the Algoma Colonization Society, he was chosen honorary secretary, and has devoted much time and money in endeavoring to bring to the notice of the world at large, the many opportunities and inducements which that district offers to intending colonists. He spent considerable time in gathering statistics and information from all parts of the district, which he compiled in a pamphlet, published by the society, entitled, "Algoma Farmers Testify," a work of some 68 pages, which, with other literature concerning Algoma, is being largely circulated in the Old Land by Sir Charles Tupper and P. Byrne, Esq., the Ontario Government agent at Liverpool, and also throughout Canada and the United States, by the Algoma

Colonization Society. In addition to taking a great interest in agricultural and colonization matters, Dr. Rogers has also connected himself with the benevolent work, carried on by the different fraternal societies, and is a P.M. of the A.F. & A.M. He also belongs to the I.O.O.F., the K. of P., the Foresters and other societies. In politics, he is a Liberal-Conservative, and has taken an active part in several campaigns. Having lived so long in the district, he has won, for himself, the affection and esteem of his neighbors, and has build up a large professional practice from all parts of the same.

REV. WALTER J. DOODY, Annapolis, N.S., was born June 3rd, 1868, at Aglish Mooncoin, County Kilkenny, Ireland. He is the son of Edmund and Margaret (Phelan) Doody, the former now deceased. Dr. Murphy, as junior curate, and in October, 1891, took charge of St. Louis Church, Parish of Annapolis. Father Doody has certainly received prominent attention at the hands of his church, at the very outset of his ministry, and is to be congratulated on the possession of those qualities of head and heart, which have brought him so speedily to the front. His future appears to be full of promise, and his many friends hope that his useful life may be long spared.

MARSHALL MACKLIN, M.D., M.C.P.S.O., Practicing Physician and Surgeon, Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, was born July 17th, 1840, in the Township of Scarboro, York County, Ont. His father, Marshall Macklin, a Scotch Irishman, was one of the early pioneers of York County, and a leader in many public enterprises. His mother, Mary Jackson, was a native of Glasgow, Scotland. Dr. Macklin, after completing his course in the public and Grammar schools, attended the University of Toronto, and then, on account of failing health, returned to the farm, where he remained about five years. On the death of his first wife, he sold the farm, and began the study of medicine in Trinity Medical School, Toronto, from which he graduated in the Spring of 1877. He then removed to Port Arthur, Ont., as physician to the C.P.R., and afterwards settled in Portage La Prairie, Man., in 1879, where he started a drug store, in partnership with Mr. A. B. Lakeman. After two years, the latter was succeeded by Mr. H. M. Campbell, and at the end of five years, Dr. Macklin disposed of his interests in the drug business; and gave his whole attention to his profession, which has so increased, that it is now, probably, the largest in the Province of Manitoba, outside of Winnipeg. In religion, Dr. Macklin is a Presbyterian, and in politics, a Reformer. He is also an eighteen degree Mason, and has held many prominent offices in that Order. He is an enthusiastic rifleman, and is one of the best shots in the 95th Battalion. Dr. Macklin was instrumental in organizing the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Manitoba, and continues to represent that body in the University Council. He possesses in large abundance, those qualities of head and heart, which so materially aid in bringing a professional man into prominence, and making him favorably known in the community where he resides. The Doctor has been married three times, and has two sons and one daughter by the first wife, and two daughters by his third wife.

JAMES HODD, president of the Hodd & Cullen Milling Co., (Ltd.), Stratford, Ont., was born June 28th, 1850, in Woking, Surrey, England. His parents, James and Elizabeth (Hull) Hodd, were held in universal esteem. Mr. Hodd was educated chiefly at an endowed school, in Hungerford, Berkshire, after which he worked on his father's farm until 1871, when he came to Canada, and was apprenticed to the milling business, in Hamilton, Ont. and vicinity. Since that time he has given his careful and entire attention to this important industry. After several years experience in Hamilton, Dundas, Detroit, and in the Western States, he engaged in business on his own account in 1880, in Clifford, Ont. In 1882, Mr. Hodd and the late Mr. John Cullen, of Ayr Ont., removed to Stratford, and built the now widely known Classic City Mills, having a capacity of 300 barrels per day, and which, they operate under the firm name of Hodd & Cullen. On the death of the latter, in 1886, his interests were purchased by Mr. John Frederick, of West Flamboro, and the business continued under the original firm name of Hodd & Cullen. On May 1st, 1893, the joint stock company as above indicated, was formed, with Mr. Hodd as managing-director, and the business enlarged to meet the growing demand for the superior brands from these mills, notably the "Classic," the "Diadem," the "Maple Leaf," and the "Anchor." These, and other grades of flour and mill feed, are shipped to all parts of Ontario, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and Great Britain. Mr. Hodd is a skillful practical miller, thoroughly reliable and honorable in all his dealings, and his success is the result of his sterling principle and energy. His seat at the City Council Board indicates, the respect and esteem in which he is held. He is an Episcopalian in religion, and in politics, a Conservative. He is also a member of the A.F. & A.M. Northgraves, established the Gazette at Almonte, which he conducted from 1867 to 1882. He then sold out his interest in that paper, and accepted a position on the Daily Times, Victoria, B.C., subsequently acquiring a controlling interest in the paper, and has been managing editor ever since. The Times, for ten years, was the only Liberal paper in British Columbia. In religion, Mr. Templeman is a Presbyterian; he is also a member of the I.O.O.F., I.O.F. and A.O.U.W. He was married, February 11th, 1869, to Eva, daughter of Joseph Bond, Almonte. honors and the degree of M.D., immediately commenced the practice of his profession at Maria, P.Q. In 1890, he removed to Petit Rocher, N.B., where he has succeeded in acquiring a large practice. He is a member of the Roman Catholic Church, and president of Branch 195 of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, which he organized.

Dr. Harrison's father, was one of the earliest settlers of the North of London. He was a councillor for the united Counties of Bruce, Huron and Perth, in the early days, and was a J. In January, 1883, he was elected M.P.P. for Minnedosa; August, 1886, was sworn in as Minister of Agriculture; December, 1886, was returned, and December, 1887, on the retirement of Premier Norquay, Dr. Harrison succeeded him as Premier, retired in January, 1888, and has since then

ALBERT EDWARD DOWSWELL, builder and contractor, Fort William, Ont., was born May 30th, 1855, in the Township of Scarboro, York County, Ont. His father, Thomas Dowswell, was a native of England, while his mother, Jane (Branam) Dowswell, was born in Canada. He was educated in the common schools of Scarboro and Toronto. When he was eighteen years, of age, he engaged in the lumbering business, which he continued for about two years, and became foreman for Messrs. Virgo & Bambridge, lumbermen, etc., for three years, then became manager for Messrs. French &

Co., lumbermen, Dresden, Ont., for three years, when he severed his connection with them, and engaged in building on his own account. In 1891, he removed to Fort William, and engaged more extensively in the building business, and now enjoys a very prosperous and rapidly extending connection. Mr. Dowswell possesses large and active constructive faculties, and it is no doubt owing to this, that he is not only an inventor of considerable note, but has been able to turn his inventions to financial profit. In 1881, he and his brother invented and patented "The Dowswell Washing Machine," which owing to its great superiority has attained a large sale on its merits. A Hamilton firm now owns the patent, and they are shipped to all parts. In 1892, he invented "The Lightning Post Hole Digger," and patented the same in Canada and Mexico. The issue of a U.S. patent is now pending. This article is said to be a marvel of simplicity and efficiency, and its immense sale would seem to confirm the statement. Already he has received over $10,000, for rights to manufacture the article in certain districts of Canada. In religion, Mr. Dowswell is a Methodist, taking an active interest in the affairs of his church, and in politics, he is a staunch Reformer. He is also a member of the I.O.F. and I.O.O.F. and always favored that denomination, although he was not a member of any church. In politics, he was an active Liberal, being a prominent and influential member of that party. S., was born in that city, December 9th, 1827. He is the son of David Starr, of Halifax, who is one of the descendents of Dr. Comfort Starr, who came to Boston, Mass., from England in 1635. The records of his family were published a few years ago in the United States. Mr. Starr received his education at the Academy connected with King's College, Windsor, N.S., and continued it at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B. He began business in 1848, as a member of the firm of David Starr & Sons, who built up a large business in hardware and shipping, but which was entirely ruined in 1880, by non-payment for construction of

of some sections of the I. C. R. Mr. Starr is the originator, and was for several years president and manager of the Starr Mfg. Co., and was also the originator and is at present the managing-director of the Canada Explosives Co., Ltd., who manufacture "Roburite," a new safety explosive for use in collieries. About the year 1884, when electricity was beginning to be known as a factor for light and power, Mr. Starr was one of the first to introduce it in Canada, and succeeded in organizing Electric Light companies in various towns in Canada and Newfoundland, and by his push and energy, has established his present business, which is the largest of its kind in the Dominion. He spent several years in Europe in the interests of the Thomson-Houston Company of Boston, and was instrumental in introducing their system of electric light, in London, Paris and other towns in France. In religion, Mr. Starr is an influential member of the Methodist Church. He was married, June 13th, 1853, to Mary Ann, daughter of Rev. Wm. CHARLES GURD, proprietor of the well-known firm of Charles Gurd & Co., manufacturers, Montreal, P.Q., was born at Edgeworthstown, Ireland, in 1841. He came to Canada with his parents in 1845, and has resided in Montreal since that time. He received his education at Rev. C. P. Watson's Commercial Academy, and continued it at the High School. At the age of fourteen years he commenced his business career in the chemical and drug business, in which line he travelled in Western Canada for several years. Since 1866, he has devoted his attention to the business of which he is, at present, the proprietor and active manager. The knowledge of chemistry which he received, and also a special course in the same line at McGill College, has been of invaluable service to him in the manufacture of mineral waters. These practical qualifications, combined with his natural energy and affability, have succeeded in placing his firm far in the lead among the aerated water manufacturers of Canada. In order to keep up the standard of his manufactures, he is in the habit of paying periodical visits to the large centres of this industry, in search of improvements, and has twice paid extended visits to Belfast, where he has spent considerable time and money in investigating the methods and processes adopted there and throughout the British Isles. Mr. Gurd takes an active interest in the charitable institutions of Montreal, and is a life governor of the Montreal General Hospital and the Protestant Hospital for the Insane. He is also a member of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, and a liberal donator to several Protestant and Catholic institutions. He came to Canada with his parents, when a mere lad. After receiving his education in the common and Grammar schools of St. Thomas, he taught school for some years. In 1866, he established the Strathroy Age, and subsequently purchased the Seaforth Expositor, and after that, founded the Daily Home Journal, at Goderich. In 1871, he was engaged by the Toronto Globe, and sent to the North-West, as special correspondent, to write up what was then a comparatively unknown land. His letters to that paper, arrested considerable attention in the older parts of Canada. In 1872, he established the Manitoba Free Press, in Winnipeg, first as a weekly, and after one year, as a daily. In 1874, he was elected to the Manitoba Legislature for Rockwood, resigning his seat in 1878, to become a candidate for Marquette for the Canadian Parliament, but by mutual arrangement, both he and his opponent, retired in favor of Sir John A. Macdonald. He was defeated in 1885, in a contest for the representation of South Winnipeg in the Legislature, but the following year, successfully contested the same constituency. He sat out the term of the Legislature, but has not since offered himself for political honors. For many years, Mr. Luxton was a member of the City

School Board, of which he was chairman, and was also a member of the Provincial Board of Education. He was one of the founders of the Winnipeg General Hospital, of which he is a life governor, and is also a charter member of the Winnipeg Board of Trade. Mr. Luxton has gradually drawn away from all public and quasi public positions, having no ambition to be personally conspicuous, and also because he is so much engrossed with his rapidly increasing journalistic work. In politics, Mr. Luxton is an Independent with Reform leanings. He is also a member of the Masonic fraternity.

THE LATE JOHN P. MOTT, manufacturer, Halifax, N.S., was born in that city in 1820. His parents were Henry Y. Mott, M.P.P., and Elizabeth (Prescott) Mott, sister of the late Hon. Chas. R. Prescott. Mr. Mott received his education at the common and High schools of his day, and in early life, learned the business of manufacturing chocolates and spices. He subsequently entered into partnership with his father, under the firm of Mott & Son. The latter soon developed into a keen and successful business man. Their trade increased until it became one of the largest of the kind in the Dominion. Mr. Mott did not confine himself to manufacturing alone; being interested largely in local banking, insurance business, and building societies, while his services as a bank director, were frequently sought. He had unbounded faith in the future of Nova Scotia, and showed his faith by losing no opportunity to invest his capital in the development of the country's resources. In short, Mr. Mott has given a stimulus to the development of Nova Scotia, and left an impress on the commercial life of his country, which will long remain. The accumulation of $850,000 did not absorb his higher nature or render him impervious to the comfort and well being of those about him, as his charitable deeds and kindly heart abundantly testified. His will leaves about $250,000 to charitable purposes. From his ever open hands, help and cheer reached many heavy hearts, that never knew to whom they were indebted, so unostentatious was his manner of helping the needy. His kind remembrance of his employees in his will, speaks volumes for the motives which governed his mercantile life, and when he died, on Feb. 12th, 1890, the poor man felt that he had lost a friend. Mr. Mott was a Liberal in politics, until Confederation, after that he was a Liberal-Conservative. In religion, he was an adherent of the Anglican Church. He was married in 1848, to Isabel Lawson Creighton, daughter of the late Jas. A. Creighton, of Halifax, N.S.

He then served his apprenticeship with Mr. James Steel, blacksmith, of Walpole, Ont. He was subsequently thirteen years at Chatham, Ont., and eleven years in Portage

La Prairie. He received his present position in May, 1890. Mr. Young was in the Town Council for a number of years, and was mayor of Portage La Prairie in 1885-86-88. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and in politics, a Reformer. He is also a member of the A.F. & A.M. and I.O. O.F. In the latter order, he was the second in Manitoba, to receive a veteran jewel for twenty-five years consecutive membership in good standing. He then taught rhetoric in the same institution for five years, and during that time was teacher of General Tecumseh, Sherman's son, the son of General Price, and many other noted men. He took his theological course at the College of the Sacred Heart, Woodstock, Maryland, under Father Mazella. He then spent several years in missions in different parts of the United States, and was ordained in 1875, by Archbishop Bailey, at Baltimore, at the Woodstock College; was then appointed lecturer at the Church of St. Francis Xavier, St. Louis, Mo., and then at the Church of the Holy Family, at Chicago.  man, are well exemplified in his examinations, in which he has always taken first-ba University, he took a reble influence and example of his mother, a woman greatly admired and beloved for her Christian graces.

Dr. Henderson received his primary education chiefly by individual study. He obtained a teachers' certificate before he was seventeen years of age, and then taught school for some years, in order to pass through college. One of his pupils was Geo. W. Ross, now Minister of Education for Ontario. He entered Queen's College, Kingston, from which he graduated M.D. in 1858. He was afterwards admitted as Fellow of that institution. Dr. Henderson began practice in Nairn, Ont., but shortly afterwards located in Wardsville, Ont., where he remained five years. In 1864, he was appointed one of the surgeons of General Grant's army, and for a time had charge of an hospital, at City Point, Va., during the late American Civil War. After his return to Canada, he practiced in Ailsa Craig, until 1877, when he removed to Winnipeg, where he has since remained in possession of a large and important medical practice. He is one of the few men of that city, who held his own after the boom, as his present easy competence shows. He belongs to the A.F. & A.M., I.O.O.F. and St. Andrew's societies. Dr. Henderson has always taken a keen interest in linguistic studies, ornamental gardening, travel, military matters, hunting and athletic sports. He has travelled very extensively, and was appointed captain of a volunteer company in Wardsville, during the Trent affair. He strongly favors arbitration for all international disputes, the most amicable relations between the United States and England, and would like to see this continent one nation, whether a limited Monarchy or a Republic, it matters little.

REV. F. X. CORMIER, Pastor of Cocagne, N.B., is the son of Benoni and Marguerite Cormier, and was born at Memramcook, N.B., February 26th, 1846. He attended at the College of Ste. Anne de la Pocatière, the College of St. Joseph, Memramcook, and studied theology at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was ordained priest at St. John, N.B., August 28th, 1870. For two years, he was pastor of Moncton, Fox Creek and Irishtown, and then for seven years ministered to the village of Richibucto and the five missions belonging thereto. He was appointed to Cocagne in 1885. Energetic and hard working, Father Cormier has completed, during his ministerial career, a great many works of construction. He built a church at Milkish and one at Stanley, finished the exterior and nearly the whole of the interior of the second church at Moncton, repaired and almost renewed the church of the village of Richibucto, built the church on the land of the Indians at Richibucto, a new church at Cocagne, which was finished in August of the year 1892, and commenced the church of Notre-Dame at Irishtown. By fertility of resources and careful management, Father Cormier succeeded in doing all this, without inconvenience to his parishioners. His merits do not end there however. When the College of St. Joseph became too small to receive all the students wishing admittance, and required an addition building, the venerable pastor of Cocagne offered himself to the director of the institution, with a well filled purse, to defray the expenses of the enterprise. The student who drinks from this fountain the benefits of education, and the entire academy, as well, can never forget this act of generosity, which places the reverend pastor in the front rank of the benefactors of the institution.

He began to practice in June of the same year, in Shediac, N.B., and continued until 1859, when he removed to Kingston, where he still remains. During his stay in Shediac, there was an epidemic of small pox (in 1857), which extended from Buctouche to Shemogue, and in 1854, the year of the Asiatic cholera in St. John, he had many cases of English cholera, the symptoms of which were similar to the Asiatic cholera, and if they had been in the district where the latter was raging, would have been classed and treated as such. Father Summers is admirably qualified by education, refinement and adaptability, for the office of the priesthood, and has brought to bear on his life work, that energy and consecration, so necessary to the fulfilment of a successful ministry. He is the son of Leonard and Abigail (Hilton) Dennis, of Puritanic Loyalist stock, whose ancestors were among the first settlers of the county. Mr. Dennis received only a limited education in the country school-house of his district, before he was seventeen years of age, at which time he went to Yarmouth, and after spending nine months at the day and night school of Mr. John McIver, and a couple of terms at the Yarmouth

Seminary, he entered as clerk in the general store of Messrs. Dennis & Doane, where he remained until 1867, when he became partner of the dry goods establishment of Viets & Dennis, which continued until 1891, when it was destroyed by fire. Since then he has conducted business on his own account. Mr. Dennis' business is now rightly considered the largest and best equipped of its kind in the province. The Princess Block, which is now owned solely by him, is a three storied building, with front of wood, stucco, and marble. It is forty-three feet front and seventy-five feet from front to rear.

The building is fitted with plate glass, elevators, and all other modern improvements, and is altogether tastefully fitted up, and presents an imposing appearance. He imports direct from England, Ireland, Scotland, Berlin, Paris, Saxony, Brussels, and no expense or trouble is spared to meet the demands of his numerous customers, and it goes without saying, that he knows how to reach the public by judicious and well timed advertising. Mr. Dennis' manner towards his employees, and his kind consideration of them, is also worthy of note. His success is due to the application of the sterling principles inherited from his parents, and the habits of industry and carefulness in which he has been trained. In religion, he belongs to the Congregational Church, and has held the office of deacon for a number of years. He has two sons and three daughters.

JOHAN McKELLAR, Mayor of Fort William, Ont., was born in Middlesex County, Ont., in 1835. His father Captain Duncan McKellar, and his mother Margaret Brodie, were both natives of Scotland. Since then, Mr. McKellar and his brothers, Peter and Donald, have been engaged extensively in exploring the north shore of Lake Superior, making, between them, many first and important mineral discoveries. They discovered in 1865, the Enterprise Mine, lead and copper; in 1866, the Thunder Bay Silver Mine, resulting in starting silver mining on Lake Superior; in 1868, the Thunder Cape Soapstone; in 1869, the great baryta lode, McKellar Island; in 1871, the Huronian Gold Mine, first free gold found on Lake Superior; in 1877, four to ten feet wide, nickeliferous pyrrhotite, Jackfish Bay; in 1880, the Zenith Mine, great zinc deposits, Nipigon; in 1884, the celebrated Atikokan Iron Range, for quality and quantity, equally as good as the great American Iron Mines. These are but a few of the many discoveries made by them, which discoveries resulted in awakening great public interest, and in the sale of large quantities of government lands in the district. Mr. McKellar was a member of the first Municipal Council (Shuniah) in Thunder Bay, in 1873, and has been continuously in the Council, filling the positions of councillor, deputy reeve and reeve in the municipalities of Shuniah and Neebing, until 1892, when he was elected by acclamation, mayor of Fort William, and again in 1893, he was re-elected. A. Crowell & Co. Mr. Crowell is now, however, the sole proprietor of the business. His present success, is an evidence of what industry, ability and perseverance can accomplish, when coupled with high moral principle. He began his commercial career with little, if any capital, except a good name and record, and an unflinching determination to succeed; these, however, soon laid the foundation of a progressive life, and their constant application has resulted in placing him where he now stands. In 1865, he was elected one of the representatives of York, in the Assembly, on the anti-confederate platform. The Government resigned the next year, and in the ensuing contest, Mr. Fraser was defeated. In June, 1871, he was appointed a member of the Legislative Council, and president of the Executive Council, but resigned these positions, in 1872, to accept the office of Provincial Secretary in the King administration, being elected by the York County constituents, by acclamation. Throughout his political career, he held steadfastly to the principles of honor, and those who most widely differed with his views, respected the purity of his motives. In his judicial capacity, he has sustained his reputation, and is highly respected for his ability, learning and impartiality. Justice Fraser has been married twice: first, in September, 1867, to Miss Martha, daughter of the late Alexander Cumming, of Fredericton; and second, in May, 1884, to Miss Jane M. He was, for many years, a member of the Board of Mechanics' Institute of St. John, as director, corresponding secretary, vice-president or president. He is at present lecturer in Ancient, Roman and Comparative English Common Law, at King's College Law School. As Recorder, he is deputy mayor, and, on the death of one of the mayors, filled the office of mayor for some months. In religion, he is a member of the Church of England, and in politics, a Liberal.

JOHN F. MITCHELL, photographer, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born October 12th, 1862, in Northumberland County, Ont. His parents, Samuel and Esther L. (Sweet) Mitchell, are both living, and reside on the old homestead, near Warkworth, Ont. He received a public school and commercial college education. When eighteen years of age, he spent one summer in the United States, after which he remained at home until 1881, when he removed to Manitoba. The first year, he was in that province, he had a contract on the C.P.R., and after that, learned the trade of machinist, at which he rose rapidly, until he became a skilled workman. Having always had a penchant for art, in 1888, he bought a half interest in a photographic studio, and within one year, was sole proprietor of the same. Since then the volume of his business has almost doubled each year. His work speaks for itself. Photography requires neatness and precision, the skilled machinist has these, which is doubtless the reason that so many of the most successful artists of to-day were formerly machinists. Mr. Mitchell has one of the largest and most expensive cameras in the Dominion, and his patronage comes from the best people of the city and province. He is now preparing to build one of the finest and best equipped studios in Canada. Mr. Mitchell is a member of the A.F. & A.M., R.T. of T. and C.O.F., being W.M. in the former, and

P.C.R. in the latter. In religion, he is an adherent of the Methodist Church, and in politics, a Conservative, taking an active interest in his party affairs. He has never aspired to public office, being too much occupied with his business affairs to admit of this. Mr. Mitchell was married, January 29th, 1890, to Sarah A. H., daughter of John R. Mitchell, Esq., of Omemee, Ont. His success results largely from the keen intelligence brought to bear on his work. He lives out the motto: "Knowledge is Power," to which fact his marked success and well-known skill is due.

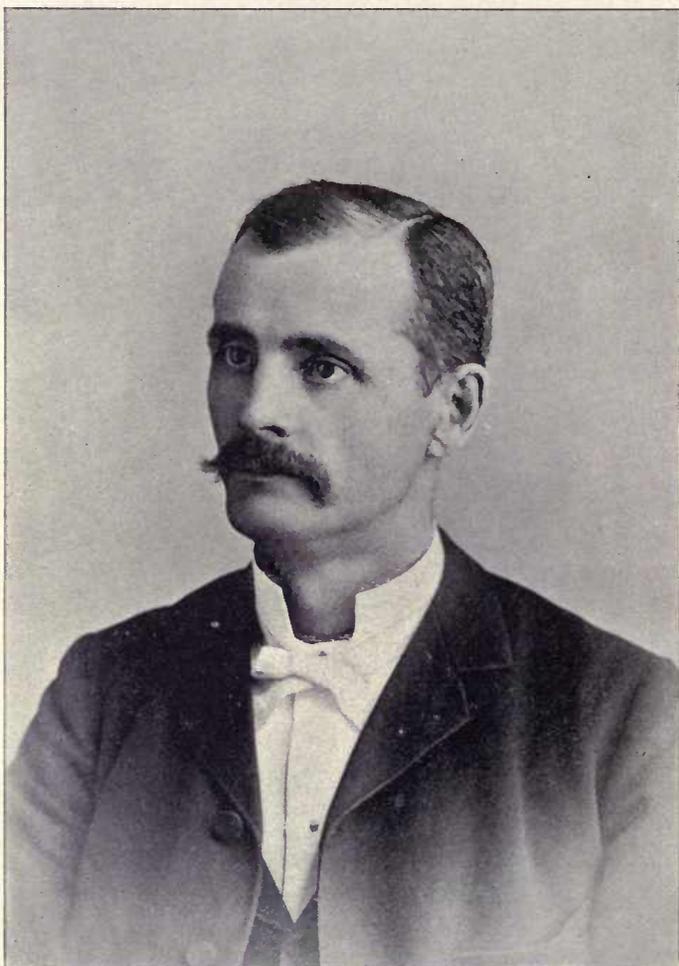

JOSEPH H. MORRISON, M.D., Ph.D., and M.C.P.S.M., oculist, St. John, New Brunswick, was born October 26th, 1854, in St. John, N.B. He is the son of Rev. Daniel Morrison and Margaret Turner, the former was a Presbyterian minister for many years, and superintendent of Education in various parts of the country. Dr. Morrison was educated at the High and Normal schools of New Brunswick; Bellevue College, New York; Guy Hospital, London, England; Royal Ophthalmic Hospital, London; Hôtel-Dieu, Paris, France. He taught in various high schools in his province, prior to beginning the study of medicine. He graduated from Bellevue College in 1878, and shortly after was appointed vice-president and professor in Natural Science in Pennsylvania State Normal School. In 1881, he went to the Province of Manitoba, and for some years was identified with the social, educational and political development of Western Manitoba, after which he went abroad, pursuing his studies as a specialist. While in England, he was assistant to the late Sir Morell McKenzie, the eminent throat surgeon, and occupied several positions in connection with the Eye and Ear Hospitals in London. Dr. Morrison is well up in his profession, and has worked up a large and satisfactory practice in St. John, where he is popular alike with the public and the profession. He belongs to the Masonic and Orange orders, also the Ancient Order United Workmen, and is Past Master in the latter. While in Manitoba, he was inspector of schools for five years, Provincial Coroner and medical health officer, and also surgeon to the Indian Department. In politics, he is an active Conservative, and has addressed meetings in the interests of his party, in different parts of the Dominion. In religion, he belongs to the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Morrison was married in 1881, to Ida, daughter of T. W. Kierstead, Esq., of Rothesay. Mrs. Morrison died in 1887. His family consists of one daughter.

THOMAS RYAN, wholesale boot and shoe merchant, and ex-mayor of Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born in 1849, in the Town of Perth. His parents were Michael and Sarah (Maly-naux) Ryan. When fifteen years of age, he was apprenticed to Robert Cookary, of Perth, where he remained for five years. In 1874, he removed to Winnipeg, where he, with Mr. McFarlane, began business in a modest way. In 1878, Mr. Ryan bought his partner's interest, and in a few years, business amounted to $120,000, annually, probably the largest retail boot and shoe trade in the Dominion. In 1887, he embarked in the wholesale trade, which has now reached nearly a quarter of a million, annually, and extends from Rat Portage to British Columbia, his business relationships being of the most pleasant character. Three consecutive years, 1885-86-87, Mr. Ryan was alderman of his adopted city, and in 1888 he was honored with the highest municipal gift in the hands of the people, the mayoralty. His rapidly growing business, however, demanded all his attention, and he wisely permitted an honorable municipal course to close. Since then, he has sold his large retail business to his brother, built a magnificent four story block, with all modern improvements, in which he carries on his wholesale trade with great success. In religion, Mr. Ryan is a Methodist, a prominent and influential worker, being a duly appointed local preacher, a class leader and a teacher in the Sabbath school. He is also a member of the R.T. of T., and an earnest advocate of temperance. As alderman, and while the chief magistrate of the city, Mr. Ryan left his impress for good in many respects, notably in the Ryan Sunday by-law, which closed up places illegally open on the Sabbath. In politics, he is a Conservative, and though often solicited to stand for Parliamentary honors, pressure of business has always forbidden. Mr. Ryan was married, in 1881, to Miss Annie Anderson, of Winnipeg, Man. His family consists of two sons and five daughters.

REV. JOHN ROBBINS, Truro, N.S., is the son of the late Rev. Charles Robbins, at one time clergyman in Oxford, and later Norwich, England. He was born at High Wycombe, famous as the seat of the Disraeli family. Mr. Robbins occupies a unique position in the Presbyterian pastorate, in that he is minister of the oldest congregation in the Dominion, viz: the first Presbyterian Church, Truro, N.S., which was organized September 13th, 1770. He is the fourth pastor of this venerable congregation, Rev. Daniel Cock having occupied the parish from 1772 to 1810, Rev. John Waddell, who became Mr. Cock's assistant and successor in 1798, held the post until 1837, when Dr. D. MacCulloch became minister in 1839, retiring in 1886, in which year Mr. Robbins was called and inducted. In the Maritime provinces, he is prominently associated with the Home Mission Committee, and takes a deep interest in the aggressive work of the Presbyterian Church. He also claims quite a clerical circle, his grand-uncle being one of the prominent missionaries, in connection with the Heroic Church of the Moravians. He has travelled extensively, and takes an active part in the work of the Church, both Synod and Assemblies. Prior to his residence in Nova Scotia, Mr. Robbins was pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Glencoe, Ont., and is well known in that province. The fact that so many Maritime Province ministers hold prominent pastorates, in Ontario, and that so many Ontario men occupy similar positions in the East, is another proof of the unity of the Dominion, and the fusion of the best interests of the people, accomplished by Confederation, and by the union of the churches with one Presbyterian Church in Canada. Mrs. Robbins is the daughter of the late George Brown, Esq., of Milton, Ontario, one of the best known men in the County of Halton. Her grandfather was Alexander Brown, who came from Dumfriesshire, Scotland, in 1803, and was amongst the first settlers in the County of Wentworth, Ont.

E. F. HUTCHINGS, wholesale dealer and manufacturer of saddlery and harness, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born June 13th, 1855, near Newboro, Leads County, Ont. His parents were Elijah and Harriet (Gifford) Hutchings, of Somersetshire, England. When fifteen years of age, he went to learn the saddlery and harness trade, and at eighteen, returned to his father's farm. In 1876, he went out to Manitoba. When he reached Winnipeg, in 1875, things did not look promising, yet he never despaired of the ultimate prosperity of the Province. He shrewdly invested all his earnings and all he could borrow, in half breed script, at from thirty to sixty-four dollars each. In 1877, he sold out at one hundred and fifteen dollars each, and with the capital, some three thousand dollars went into business. In 1879, Mr. Hutchings became a partner of Robert Stalker, and their business grew rapidly. In 1884, he became sole proprietor and, to-day, does a business of nearly a quarter of a million per annum, for besides his Winnipeg stock of one hundred thousand dollars, and a trade that extends from the great lakes to the Pacific, he owns large retail establishments, in Winnipeg, Neepawa, Prince Albert and Portage La Prairie, which carry stocks averaging ten thousand dollars each. As a man of integrity and liberal public spirit, Mr. Hutchings is held in universal esteem. He is a prominent worker in the higher Masonic Arts, a trustee of the City Sinking Fund, a director of the Permanent Mortgage and Trust Company, a large stockholder in the Great West Life Assurance Company, has been city alderman, and has often been pressed to stand for Parliamentary honors, but pressure of business has forbidden. His brick blocks, in Winnipeg and other towns, and his palatial residence, "Gifford Hall," are a fitting tribute to his enterprise. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and in politics, an influential Liberal-Conservative. On Oct. 3rd, 1882, he was married to Sarah, daughter of Mr. Denby, of Newboro, Ont. His family consists of four children.

BOYLE TRAVERS, A.B., M.D., T.C.D., St. John, N.B., was born in September, 1824, in Clonakilty, County Cork, Ireland. Left an orphan at the age of five years, he became a ward of chancery, under the guardianship of Mr. Kearney, principal of Lord Shannon Endowed School, Clonakilty. At the age of fifteen, he entered Trinity College, Dublin, and graduated from that institution, A.B., M.B. He afterwards came to America, and started to practice his profession, in which he has had remarkable success. Dr. Travers has been president of the Board of Health, and School Trustee, and at present is a member of the Senate of the University of New Brunswick. In politics, he is a Liberal, and in religion, a Roman Catholic. He was married in 1864, to the youngest sister of Bishop Sweeny. His family consists of two sons and four daughters. His eldest son is an M.D., and graduated from McGill College, and his second son is practicing dentistry.

REV. MARK C. RUMBALL, B.A., Pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, Morden, Manitoba, was born April 16th, 1857, at Clinton, Ont. His father, Ebenezer Rumball, was English, and his mother Martha Cassils, was Irish. Mr. Rumball received his education at the Holmesville public school, the Jones Commercial College, London, Ont., and the Clinton High School. He then taught school for two years, and attended the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, a little over one year, after which he entered Victoria College, Cobourg, from which he graduated in 1886. He visited Manitoba that Summer, and received a call to High Bluff and Prospect, where he was ordained October 8th, 1889. He entered his present charge, January 1st, 1893. His diligent labors have been rewarded by a large measure of success, and the Morden church is now being enlarged. Mr. Rumball is a member of the I.O.F., and a Reformer in politics. He was married, September 18th, 1889, to Miss Emily, daughter of Robert McCullagh, of Cobourg, Ont., by whom he has two daughters.

Loyalist stock, while his mother was of English descent, and her father was administrator of the Government in Prince Edward Island, during the interval of the Government of Britain appointing a Governor. the Prince of Wales College, and continued it in England, where he entered the matriculation class of the London University at Wesley College, Sheffield, England, and on his return to Canada, studied for three years with a practicing physician in Charlottetown. He then entered Sackville University, taking the complete course, and graduating from that institution with first-class record, and the degree of B.A. He was ordained in 1874, to the ministry of the Methodist Church, and his first charge was in the city of St. John. From there he went to Halifax, where he remained for nine years, with also three years at Windsor, N.S. He was then compelled to retire on account of ill health, but with rest, he hopes to regain this and resume active work again. Mr. Brecken was married, January 6th, 1876, to Jessie, youngest daughter of Aaron Eaton, Esq., ship builder, of St. John, N.B. His family consists of three children living. REV. JOHN SEMMENS, Methodist Clergyman, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born January 9th, 1850, in Penzance, Cornwall, England. His parents were John and Sarah Semmens. His father was a miner who, through accident, was laid aside in mid-life, making it necessary for the eldest son to go into the mines at the early age of eight, in order to help in the support of the family. Kept from the common school by his daily duties, he nevertheless so improved his spare time, that when eighteen, he was able to pass the preliminary examination at Victoria College, Cobourg. He remained at college nearly three years, working his own way by the sale of books, and by private tuition, until his call to the ministry in 1870. He was ordained in 1872, in Hamilton, Ont., by the Rev. William Morley Punshon, L.L.D., Rev. Enoch Wood, D.D., and Rev. S. D. Rice, D.D. His early charges were: Walkerville, Chatham, Dundas, Davenport and Bruce Mines. He was sent to the Red River country, in 1872, where he became the assistant of the Rev. George Young, D.D. Subsequently he was in charge of Zion Church, Winnipeg; Emerson, Manitoba; Norway House, Nelson House, and Berens River, Keewatin, serving as missionary to the Indians, and after his return to civilization, at Carberry, Wesley Church, and Mc Dougall Church, Winnipeg. He was the first regular missionary at Nelson House, founded Fisher River Mission, in 1876, and in 1886-89 had charge of a field, 800 by 350 miles. His self-sacrifice and untiring energy, cannot fail to leave a marked impress for good. Mr. Parsons received his early education at the schools of Woodstock, N.B., and took his higher training at Foxcraft Academy, Maine, graduating from that institution with first-class honors. He was ordained to the ministry of the Baptist Church, July 4th, 1861, at Nashwaak, N.B., by the Revs. Geo. A. Hartley, J. Gunter, W. Downey and W. Kinghorn. His first charge was at Nashwaak, and Marysville for one year, after which he was pastor of the First F. C. Baptist Church, Woodstock, N.B., from July, 1862, until July, 1865, and from the latter time, until July, 1866, he was engaged in Home mission work. After this he was pastor of the church at North Head, Grand Manan, until 1867, when he returned to his pastorate at Woodstock, remaining there until 1869, and in October of that year accepted a call to the First Church, St. John, N.B., where he continued for twenty-two years. He then removed to Marysville, where he is also pastor of the churches of Nashwaak and Gibson. Since occupying his present charge, he has received a large number of new members into his church. Mr. Parsons was married, September 3rd, 1851, to Sarah A., daughter of H. Larlee, Esq., of Perth, Victoria County, New Brunswick. His family consists of two daughters. Mr. Parsons has done good work in several temperance organizations. But few have had the honor to spend over thirty years in continuous work for the good of humanity, and at the eventide of life to be found engaged with unabated vigor, in labors abundant for the welfare of others.

REV. WILLIAM GOOLD HENDERSON, Pastor of Zion Methodist Church, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born in Ayr, Scotland, in 1850. His father was Rev. Joseph Henderson, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, of that place, and his mother was the daughter of the late Rev. William Goold, and a sister of the Rev. William Henry Goold, DD., who has been for fifty years pastor of the Martyr's Church, Edinburgh. After receiving his early education, he studied law for a time, but, upon joining the Methodist Church, felt called to the work of the ministry, and after preparing for the same, was ordained at the Montreal Conference, in Brockville, Ontario, in 1885. The ties of blood and early association would lead him to the Presbyterian fold, but to be a Methodist, however, is with him a matter of pure conviction. While enthusiastically loyal to the Church of his choice, he has a warm love for the historic faith of his fathers. His rise in the Church has been rapid, having been stationed in such important charges as Prescott, Pittsburg, Perth, and now Winnipeg, Manitoba, to which latter charge he received a cordial and unanimous call in 1892. Although being so recently connected with the ministry, he was elected to the office of secretary of the Montreal Conference in 1891, and upon retiring from that conference to enter upon his present pastorate, he was honored by the passing of a highly complimentary resolution of thanks for his services by that body. In addition to the above mentioned appointments, he has received invitations to several of the most desirable congregations in the denomination. Mr. Henderson is an eloquent and forcible speaker, of pleasing address, an active and zealous worker in every good cause which he undertakes. He took his arts course in the Presbyterian Seminary, Truro, and his theological course in the Presbyterian College, Halifax.

He was licensed by the Presbytery of Halifax, and immediately began to travel over a considerable portion of Canada and the United States, and then went to Edinburgh, where he took the senior course in the regular classes in the United Presbyterian College and afterwards the senior course in the New College. After travelling a good deal in Europe, Asia and Africa, giving special attention to Syria and Palestine, he returned to Nova Scotia, in 1867, and accepted work as a probationer. He was ordained in October, 1868, and accepted a call from the Presbyterian congregation of Cornwallis, where he remained six and one half years. His next charge was Moncton, where he remained until June, 1888. When he entered upon this charge, the membership was only 47, and when he left, it was upwards of 500. He was called to St. Andrew's Church, Winnipeg, in May, 1888, and became pastor of that church in July, of that year, and has received upwards of 800 into full communion, since his pastorate there. In 1874, he was ordained priest at Fredericton, N.B., by the late Metropolitan of Canada, and became rector of St. George Church, Moncton, N.B., where, for eight years, his labors were greatly blessed. In 1882, Canon Pentreath accepted his present position and the fruits of his labors, in Winnipeg, have justified in a very marked degree, the wisdom of the appointment. His work in a parish, large in numbers, and not strong financially, has been very arduous, but his success has been most gratifying. All denominations speak of him in the highest terms, on account of his wide and liberal views, his eloquence, and general worth. In 1886, he was appointed Rural Dean of Selkirk, and Honorary Canon of St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, in 1891,

He belongs to the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, is president of Branch 134, and a member of the Executive of the Grand Council of Canada. He is also an official referee in Equity, appointed by the Provincial Government. Mr. Carleton has made rapid progress in his profession, having, very early in life, reached a desirable standing among his fellows in law, and his past successes would indicate for him a brilliant future. In the Spring of 1878, he settled in Yarmouth, N.S., as general practitioner, although making a speciality of the diseases of women and children, also of the eye, ear, throat and nose, and in these specialities, has had marked success. The Summer succeeding his removal to Yarmouth, he was appointed to the position of port surgeon, and medical superintendent of Marine Hospital, which position he has held since that date. Dr. Perrin was married, in 1876, to Mary, daughter of W. H. Gridley, Esq., of Yarmouth, N.S., and great grand daughter of General Richard Gridley, of distin-

GEORGE ERASTUS DEWITT, Physician, Wolfville, N.S., was born at Bridgetown, N.S., October 15th, 1842. He is the son of Jacob and Caroline Eliza DeWitt, both deceased, of that place. The great-grand-father of Dr. DeWitt was one of the loyalists who came to Nova Scotia at the time of the revolution in the United States, and settled in the County of Annapolis. The early life of Dr. DeWitt was spent in Bridgetown, where he received his primary education. A military school course, in his early college days, gives him exceptional fitness for this kind of work. In politics, Mr. Fotheringham is a Liberal, but does not take any active interest in the affairs of the party. Says The Golden Rule: "The multiplicity of his labors, his tireless energy, progressiveness, large minded grasp of principles, combined with an ability to trace them down into working details, together with an enthusiasm that sets other hearts burning, call forth spontaneous expressions of admiration."

Part of the special work entrusted to him by the Society, as financial secretary to their missions in Rupert's Land, in conjunction with the Bishop and the Society's Finance Committee, was to inaugurate and carry out a scheme for the gradual withdrawal of the Society's aid from such of its missions as seemed no longer to require the Society's support, and the same was successfully carried out. There is no need to dilate upon his labors in this connection, and in the secretariat. Suffice it to say the work was thoroughly done, and while filling several important posts in connection with ecclesiastical and educational work, his own parish was most conscientiously cared for. In Oct., 1884, he was consecrated Bishop of Athabaska, in St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg. He has been married twice; first, to Mary, daughter of Samuel Topliff, Esq., of Robinston, Maine, in 1829, by whom he had three sons and four daughters, and after her death, he married Elizabeth M., daughter of Mr. Housley, of Boston, Mass., who died in March, 1891. In religion, Mr. Porter is a congregationalist, and holds the office of deacon. In politics, he is a Liberal-Conservative. When a mere youth, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace, and, having been a strong advocate of the temperance cause all his life, he fought hard to do away with the granting of liquor licenses in Charlotte County, and succeeded in the non-granting of the same for one term. When nineteen years of age, he nearly lost his life by a lightning stroke, which rendered him insensible, but his career was not so to terminate, and in his ninetieth year (1893), Mr. Porter looks back with pleasure on a long, honorable and eventful life. His children occupy various positions of trust, most of them residing in the United States.

Champion, founded the Banking House of Alloway & Champion, the name of which has always been a synonym for integrity and honor. This institution is one of the few which weathered the collapse of Winnipeg's boom. Mr. Alloway built the magnificent Ogilvie Mills, of Winnipeg, Man., of which he was the first manager, he being one of the charter stockholders of the Ogilvie Milling Company, (Ltd.), Winnipeg. For six years, he was a member of the

He was admitted to practice, in 1845, called to the Bar in 1847, created a Q.C. in 1867, and practiced in St. Stephen until appointed to his present position, June 10th, 1867. On leaving for Canada, he was presented with a purse of sovereigns, and a valuable silver salver, in order that, as one of the speakers said at his farewell meeting: "Canadians might know what Scotland thought of his services." Dr. Lawson filled his position in

Queen's College, Kingston, with much acceptance until 1863, when he resigned and accepted his present professorship. The space allotted to his biography will not admit the details of his success, nor afford room for the mention of his connection with all the important literary and scientific societies in this and the old land. JOHAN RUTHERFORD, Stellarton, N.S., the first Government Inspector of Mines for Nova Scotia, is a native of Durham County, England. He was educated at a private school, and when sixteen was placed with a civil engineer of considerable repute, at Hartlepool, after which he spent two years in the engine building shops of the now well-known Hartlepool Engine Works of Thomas Richardson & Sons. Here he gained such a practical knowledge of machinery, as was very valuable in after life. He abandoned civil engineering, however, and was articled to Mr. George (now Sir George) Elliot, the eminent mining engineer and coal owner, after which he was placed in a position which enabled him to gain an intimate knowledge of the difficulties in sinking through the Magnesian limestone and beds of quicksand, and the mode of overcoming them, at the Seaham and Seaton collieries. About this time, Mr. Rutherford, entered the office of a firm of land and mining surveyors, where he remained until appointed mining assistant of Lord Durham's extensive collieries, which office he held for some years. In 1865, Mr. Rutherford, being strongly recommended, was engaged as inspector of mines for the province of Nova Scotia. He held that position for six years, after which he resigned to become the general manager of the General Mining Association of London, which position he held for five years, after which he followed a private professional practice. In 1880, when the explosion took place in the Albion Mines, he was summoned, from England, to assist in replacing the mines in a productive condition. He was subsequently appointed manager, in which position he remained until the Vale and Halifax companies were amalgamated with the Acadia Coal Co. He was appointed, by the Dominion Government, a member of the Advisory Board, for the Philadelphia Exhibition, in 1876, and was one of the superintendents of the collection of minerals sent there. DUNCAN STEELE CURRY, City Comptroller, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born in Sydney, C.B., in 1852, and was educated at a private school. He entered the service of the Glasgow and Cape Breton Coal and Railway Co., at an early age, and at the time of the company's suspension, owing to the severe depression in the coal trade in 1874, occupied the position of cashier and paymaster. In June of that year, he joined the North-West Mounted Police at Toronto, and served under Colonel French in the celebrated march to Fort Whoopup and return. This, at the time, was claimed to be the longest continuous march of a military force on record, the distance covered being 2,200 miles. The North-West was then to a large extent in a rough state, and many privations and hardships were experienced during the march. In June 1875, Mr. Curry resigned from the N.-W. Mounted Police, and was appointed commissariat officer for the C.P.R. surveys in the Lake of the Woods district. Two years later, he was transferred to Winnipeg, as accountant in the office of the paymaster and purveyor. On the retirement of Mr. Nixon, Mr. Curry was placed in charge as accountant and paymaster at Winnipeg, and continued in this office until the final winding up, in 1884, of the Government business in connection with the C.P.R., being latterly employed in the Department of Railways at Ottawa, adjusting Government contract claims. In Aug., 1884, he was appointed auditor of the city of Winnipeg, and subsequently city comptroller, which position he now fills. Mr. Curry is a member of the trading firm of Brown & Curry, Edmonton, Alberta, a director of the North-West Fire Insurance Co., and is identified with various local institutions. Under Mr. Cumming's pastorate, the congregation, at Truro, is in a flourishing condition. In 1874, he was married to Tillie McNairn, of Quebec. He has three sons, one of whom is studying with a view to entering the ministry.

REV. JOHN JOSEPH CHISHOLM, P.P., Picton, N.S., was born at Heatherton, March 31st, 1840. He is the son of Alexander Chisholm and Catherine Chisholm. The former was a native of Strathglass, Invernesshire, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1818, locating at Heatherton, County of Antigonish, N.S., where he died, October, 1879. Father Chisholm was educated at the school of Heatherton, and the Grammar School, St. Andrew's. Immediately after ordination, he became one of the assistant priests of St. Patrick's, Montreal, where he remained for about four months, when he returned to his native diocese. In May of the same year, he was given charge of the mission of Broad Cove, but the mission of Margaree being vacant, and much in need of the services of a priest, at the time, he was sent, after six weeks' work

When Father Chisholm left Heatherton, he was presented with a purse of money and other tokens, from his parishioners, as an expression of their good will towards him, and while regretting his departure from among them, wished him every success in his new field. Although coming to Picton, almost an entire stranger, it was not long before he had won the hearts of his people there. Father Chisholm has had four brothers and three sisters, only one brother of whom is living, namely: Rev. Archibald Chisholm, P. P., Judique, N. S.

JOHN SUTHERLAND, farmer, Kildonan, Man., was born December 23rd, 1837, in Kildonan, Red River Settlement. His father was Alexander Sutherland, who came to the settlement in 1823, and was one of that body of sturdy Presbyterians, that strove so long to get a minister of their own church, for the settlers, and in 1853, visited Toronto, to secure the return of their minister, the late Dr. Black, to his distant parish. His mother was Christina McBeath, who was born in Kildonan, in 1816. Her parents were among Lord Selkirk's early settlers. Mr. Sutherland is one of our many self educated men, being at school only a short time. He is an ardent social reformer, taking a deep interest in the promotion of temperance, and is a strong prohibitionist. He is a "Templar," and has been president of his lodge. He has always taken a deep interest in public affairs, and has been for some years a member of the Kildonan Council. In politics, Mr. Sutherland is, from conviction, a Liberal. From 1871 to 1878, he represented Kildonan in the Legislative Assembly, and took an active part in the legislation of that formative period. He had the honor of introducing, in 1871, the first bill dealing with Public Education in Manitoba. This bill was thoroughly non-sectarian, as Mr. Sutherland is opposed to class legislation of every kind. In him, corruption, in any party, finds an uncompromising opponent. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and has long been an elder, having been ordained, in 1867, by the Rev. Dr. Black, for whom he has ever had the warmest friendship. Since 1879, he has been superintendent of the Sunday School of the Congregation, and conducts the Bible Class. He has been a member of the Board of Management of Manitoba College from its foundation, and called the first meeting to take steps to erect a building for the College in Kildonan. He then attended Trinity Medical School, Toronto, graduating in 1887, subsequently taking a Post graduate course in New York City. He settled at Boissevain shortly after graduation, and has been conducting a very successful practice there ever since. His grandfather, Caleb Schaffner, was a noted Colonel in the Canadian forces. Dr. Schaffner is health officer, president of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Boissevain, was the Conservative candidate for the Local House in 1892. In 1876, he took up land in Neepawa district, and carried on an implement business also, until 1883, when he removed to the town, and conducted the implement, lumber and grain business, until August, 1890, when he opened a general store. He was elected to Council, in 1884, and was, for some years, Reeve of Rosedale municipality. He was educated at the village of Glenorchy, and afterwards at Glasgow, Scotland. Mr. McIntyre has been brought up with the Hudson's Bay Co., coming to this country, in 1841, with Sir George Simpson's party, on his trip around the world, crossing the continents of America, Asia and Europe, in nineteen months and twenty-six days, a truly wonderful performance in those days. After this trip, in the Spring of 1844, he took charge of a post on the St. Lawrence River, thence to Brunswick House, North of Lake Superior, then to Fort William, Lake Superior, where he remained in charge for twenty-four years, retiring as factor. He then entered the Civil Service, as Indian Agent, in charge of the Savanne Agency (Manitoba jurisdiction). He has had a long and intimate acquaintance with the country and the Indians from Moose Factory, Hudson's Bay, to the St. Lawrence River. He has acted as Magistrate since 1866, and has also received various commissions, from time to time, from the government, in the interests of law and order, and has served as Councillor in his municipality. In politics, Mr. McIntyre is a Conservative, and in religion, a Presbyterian. Concerning his retirement from the Hudson's Bay Co., Harper's Magazine remarks: "The chief glory of Fort William has, however, passed away in the retirement of Mr. McIntyre, the last of the local factors, who looked like an old Scotch laird with his ruddy face, shaggy eye brows and a white tasseled cap that covered locks as white as the northern snows, among which he has spent his life." He rendered most valuable service in instructing the troops how to go West during the first Riel Rebellion. CARL OTTO PAUL HENNEBERG, Musical Director, Winnipeg, Man., was born in Bobersberg, Germany, in 1863. His parents were Wilhelm and Wilhelmiene (Burdack) Henneberg, his father being a leading musical director of Bobersberg. Mr. Henneberg received his primary education at home, after which he served three years in the Royal Army, and then finished his education at the Royal High School, Berlin. At the age of twenty-three, he went to Stockholm, as solo flute player, in the Orchestra of the Swedish Royal Opera, for one season, after which he was elected as musical director of Gothenberg, Sweden, where he remained two years. In 1889, he came to America, and was invited to become a member of the celebrated Mendelssohn Quintette Club of Boston, which for three years travelled through the chief cities of the United States and Canada, delighting the music loving public. After several visits of the club to Winnipeg, Mr. Henneberg was urged by many of the leading musical men of that city to locate there permanently, which he did in 1892. Since then he has conducted the Apollo Club with great success. His services as a flute or violin soloist are in constant demand, while as teacher of the piano and all stringed instruments, his patronage among the best people is very gratifying. Mr. Henneberg is perfectly at home in music. He seems to have inherited an aptness and love for it, which elevates his teaching above the sometimes arid and dry, and his pupils frequently gather from him the same inspiration. Mr. Henneberg is doing much to improve the quality of the music of the Prairie City, and to cultivate a correct taste for the divine art. As in other matters, the citizens of Winnipeg are not slow to appreciate so eminent a man in their midst, and his efforts have met with much success. In religion, he belongs to the German Holy Trinity Church. In 1886, he was married to Miss Augusta Holm, daughter of the late Captain Holm, of Gefle, Sweden. His family consists of one son and two daughters.

From this date until December 3rd, 1889, he occupied this position, during which, assisted by a Board of Education, he organized over 400 additional schools, introduced a system of Normal school training, the equal of that in any of the older provinces, organized a thorough system of inspection, and examination of teachers, and provided a code of regulation which remained practically the same after the abolition of the distinction of Protestant and Catholic schools, and the organization of the new system of uniform provincial schools. From the date of the abolition of the office then held by him, he ceased to be actively connected with educational matters, and in 1891 became secretary-treasurer of the Manitoba Free Press, the leading newspaper of the North-West, which position he still holds. FRED. WILLIAM DREWRY, Winnipeg, Man., was born Aug. 6th, 1855, at Newport, Eng. In 1857, his father left England for America, being followed by the rest of the family in 1860, in which year they located in St. Paul, Minn., U. S. A., where Mr. Drewry, sr., has resided since, being one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of that city. D., K. of P., St. George's Society, Winnipeg Rowing Club, Winnipeg Camera Club, Winnipeg Lacrosse Club, St. George's Snowshoe Club, St. John's Tennis Club, and is a member and vice-president of the Liberal-Conservative Association, a director of the Winnipeg Lacrosse Club, a director and one of the promoters of the Home Building and Savings Association of Winnipeg. He takes an active part in all political questions, and has been pressed to stand for parliamentary and civic honors, but has so far declined. He is greatly interested in all that pertains to the business and social interests of the Manitoban capital. He is possessed of a very genial temperament, and being a ready and successful originator of legitimate sports and amusements, has become a favorite among his fellows. In religion, Mr. Drewry is a member of the Church of England, and holds the office of auditor of St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg. He was married, in 1881, to Gussie E. Kiefer, daughter of Col. A. R. which partnership has been continued until the present. They do a very extensive trade in gents' furnishings, etc., from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, and are well known as a reliable and honorable firm. THE LATE HON. ANDREW GRAHAM BALLENDEN BANNATYNE, Winnipeg, Manitoba, was born in 1830, at St. Margaret's, Orkney. He was educated in Stromness, and at the age of sixteen, came to Rupert's Land. His career in the North-West dates from 1846, when arriving at Sault St. Marie, he entered the Hudson's Bay Company's service, under his uncle, chief factor John Ballenden, where he remained five years, when he removed to Fort Garry, and commenced business on his own account. To give the details of Mr. Bannatyne's thirty-eight years experience in the North-West, would exceed the space at our command; he was a prosperous merchant years before the advent of railways, when he could only import goods once a year, viâ the ice bound regions of Hudson's Straits, or twice a year by sending teams over land to St. Paul. He also held large and valuable blocks of land in Winnipeg and Manitoba, which as the country developed, became very valuable, but as values decreased, he had to reckon with heavy losses, which would have been far less, had it not been for his open handed disposition, and the part he took in numerous enterprises, which benefited the public at the expense of the promoters. In 1851, he was married to Annie, fifth daughter of the late Andrew McDermot. Mr. and Mrs. Bannatyne were, from their wealth and influence, leaders in the social circle, and were known for their wide and generous hospitality. In religion he was a Presbyterian, and a liberal supporter of that church. He was one of the founders and active promoters, and a chairman of Manitoba College, and a member in high standing of the Masonic Order, and of St. Andrew's Society, one of the directors of Winnipeg General Hospital, and did many things to promote the common weal. He was also postmaster for Assiniboia, first police magistrate for Winnipeg, member of the House of Commons for Provencher, and a member of the N.-W. Council. He died May 18th, 1889, leaving a widow and five children.

REV. THOS. VINCENT, D.D., Archdeacon of Moose, a missionary in the diocese of Moosomin, under the auspices of the Ch. Missionary Society, Salisbury Square, London, England, was born March 1st, 1835, at Osnabrugh, in the Albany River District. He is the son of John and Charlotte (Thomas) Vincent. His father was an employee of the Hudson's Bay Company, and held the position of senior clerk in the service. He retired from the company about the year 1841, settled in Red River, in St. Paul's Parish, and died in 1874. His mother is still living (1893). He received his early education in St. Paul's Parish School, and then at St. John's College, Winnipeg. He assisted on his father's farm until he was twenty years of age, when he went out with Bishop Anderson to Moose Factory, in 1855, and was a catechist there for five years, filling the position very successfully. He was ordained deacon at Moose Factory, in July, 1860, and received priest's orders in St. John's Church, Winnipeg, in May, 1863. He has been in charge of the Albany Mission since 1860, and has also had charge of the Moose Mission for six years. He was married in September, 1861, at Moose Factory, to Eliza Ann Gladman, daughter of Joseph Gladman, Esq., of the Hudson's Bay Company. His family consists of three sons and two daughters. The Archdeacon's zeal, courage, self-sacrifice, and the hardships he has endured, during his long term of ministry, cannot be fully described, although he considers no sacrifice too great to advance the interests of his beloved cause. As a labour of love he translated Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, from the English to one of the Indian languages, which task took up all his leisure hours for several years. His life is an unanswerable argument against agnosticism, and he is very popular with all who know him. He is often for many months at a time away from his family. Formerly, he could receive mail only once a year, but now receives it about once in every three months.

THE LATE EDWARD WILLIS, Postmaster, St. John, N.B., was born November 5th, 1835, at Halifax, N.S. His parents were John and Dorothy Le Roi Willis. He received his education at the National and Grammar schools, Halifax. The greater part of his life was spent in the newspaper business, at which he was very successful, and by means of which he was widely known. Mr. Willis, although a self-made man, acquired a thoroughly good education, and was possessed of a keen intelligence, which resulted from a sound training in practical life. In conducting a journal, he was eminently successful, and being a forcible and vigorous writer, was able to record himself with great ability and clearness. He also took an active part in political matters, and was a member of the Legislative Assembly for ten years, namely from 1872 to 1882. In religion, he was an Episcopalian, and a member of St. James Episcopal Church, St. John, N.B., and held the offices of Church Warden and Superintendent of the Sabbath School. Coming to Toronto in 1882, he worked as a journeyman tailor for a short time, but soon was promoted to the position of head cutter in a leading tailoring establishment in that city. By painstaking, industry and economy, he accumulated sufficient capital to commence business on his own account, when he established himself in his present quarters, with a select line of goods. He is a member of the Masonic Fraternity, also of the I.O.F., and is Past Chancellor in the K. of P. He has always been actively identified with temperance work and is a popular Orangeman. Mr. Glass was married in 1882. His family consists of five children. In religion, he is a Methodist. He is one of the rising men of Toronto, and highly respected.

THE LATE LIEUT.-COLONEL HON. WILLIAM NASSAU KENNEDY, Winnipeg, Man., was born at Darlington, Ont., on the 27th of April, 1839, and received his education at Peterboro, Ont. He began life as a contractor, and subsequently gave up that occupation for the study of law. He removed to Fort Garry in 1870, and received the appointment of Registrar of Deeds in 1872, which position he held till the time of his death, in May, 1885. During his life, he held many prominent positions, among which may be mentioned that of mayor of Winnipeg for two years, member of the North-West Council, president of the P. & W. R. R., the S. W. C. R. R., the North-West Fire Insurance Co., Winnipeg Philharmonic Society, a member of the Orange Lodge, Grand Master A. F. & A. M. for Manitoba, and in musical circles always welcomed. His military career was a very bright one. At the early age of seventeen years he joined the volunteers, and ever afterwards evinced a keen interest in all military matters, receiving the highest tokens of recognition for his services, and holding at the time of his death a lieutenant-colonelcy. As captain and adjutant he served with the 57th Battalion, during the Fenian Raid in 1866, and in 1870 he was chosen to accompany the first Red River Expedition to Fort Garry. In 1873, he organized and commanded the Winnipeg Field Battery till 1883, when he resigned its command to accept the lieutenant-colonelcy of the 90th Battalion then organizing. In 1884, at the request of the Imperial Government, he organized the Manitoba contingent of the Nile Voyageurs for the Gordon Relief Expedition, under command of General Lord Wolsley, and accompanied it to the close of the campaign. When on his return to his native land, he was taken ill at London, Eng., and died May 3rd, 1885. He was buried in Highgate Cemetery with full military honors, His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, General Lord Wolsley, and many others, being in attendance.

THE LATE REV. JOHN BLACK, D. D., Kildonan, Man., was born January 8th, 1818, in Dumfriesshire, Scotland. He was the eldest son of William Black and Margaret Halliday. His education was begun in the 'Gair School,' where the foundation was laid of that extensive knowledge of Latin, Greek and French, for which he was afterwards distinguished. After leaving school, he was a successful teacher for some years. In 1841, he came to America and settled in New York State, remaining three years, resuming at the Delaware Academy his literary preparation for the ministry. In 1844, he entered Knox College, Toronto, after which he was for three years missionary and agent of the French Canadian Missionary Society. In 1851, there was a request for a minister for the Red River Settlement, and Mr. Black accepted the position of missionary to Kildonan. He was ordained 31st July of that year, and immediately started for his distant mission, arriving on 19th of September at Kildonan, and for eleven years toiled on alone, when he was joined by the Rev. James Nisbet, who assisted him for four years. In 1870 the Presbytery of Manitoba was formed, and in 1871 Manitoba College established, both of which steps were taken mainly through his efforts. Probably the most trying crisis of his life was the Metis Rebellion in 1869-70, and his wise and prudent counsel in this time of trouble, helped to avert much blood shed and save life. In the Winter of 1880-81, under too great work, his health gave way, and he went abroad for a time, returning in the autumn, temporarily improved; but passed peacefully away February 11th, 1882. He was an eloquent preacher and a faithful and much beloved pastor, was president of the Bible Society for years, and deeply interested in educational matters and in the cause of temperance. In 1876, the degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Queen's University. A wife, three sons and three daughters survive him, some of whom hold important positions in the country.

After teaching for a short time, he entered Holy Cross, the famous Jesuit College, at Worcester, Mass., after leaving which he became Principal of St. Mary's Model School at Hamilton. In 1882, Mr. Gilroy was promoted by the company to his present position, and certainly, under his management, the volume of the Western business of this popular company has been highly satisfactory. Two elements contribute to this result: first, the popularity among shrewd business men of the "Unconditional" policies issued by the institution which he represents; and, secondly, the universal esteem and respect in which Mr. Gilroy is deservedly held. To do business with him is to become his friend. He is also a public spirited citizen. For years he has been a member of the Winnipeg Municipal Council, and he is one of its most popular aldermen, taking a leading part in the business of the council. WILLIAM AGNEW DENNY MORSE, Judge of the County Court for District No. 5, Nova Scotia, including the associate counties of Pictou and Cumberland, the two largest mining and manufacturing counties in the Lower Provinces, was born January 13th, 1837, at Amherst, Cumberland County, N.S. His father, James Shannon Morse, was in public life for over forty years, and was the grandson of an officer, Joseph Morse, who served under Lord Amherst, and in connection with Major Allan, a Scotch officer, and Joshua Winslow, and other officers, laid the foundation of the first English settlement, in 1763, at the head of the Bay of Fundy, called the Town of Cumberland, named after the Duke of Cumberland. His mother, Augusta Agnew Kinnear, was the granddaughter of Andrew Kinnear, Esq., an officer who served in the States during the Rebellion of 1776, and afterwards was the barrack master and commander at Fort Cumberland, the strongest fort at the head of the Bay of Fundy, and which commanded the isthmus of Chignecto. Judge Morse was educated at a private school, under Dr. Hea, and at Sackville Academy, Westmoreland County. He studied law with the late Sir William Young, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, who afterwards offered him a partnership, but he entered into business with Hon. Mr. Caldwell received an excellent education at the Montreal High School, where he put in six years hard study. When seventeen years of age, he entered the Military School, where he obtained a certificate. He afterwards joined the Montreal (Volunteer) Victoria Rifles, and went to the front. He was also for some time attached to a provisional battalion in Montreal. In his early manhood, Mr. Caldwell attended Dr. Girdwood's classes in chemistry, and spent some months in the laboratory of a chemist, all of which training he now finds very helpful to him. In 1876, he went to Winnipeg, where for some years he conducted a wholesale and retail drug business. For the last four or five years, he has been operating in his present field, latterly as owner of the Sultana Mine, whose products are now exciting unusual interest among capitalists. The future historian of the Rainy River District must pay a tribute to the foresight, courage and dogged perseverance of this pioneer miner, who, in spite of natural obstacles (hard and refractory ore), Government restrictions, both Provincial and Federal, adverse criticisms of a number of mining experts, heavy railway rates, etc., is proving to the mining world that gold is present in paying quantities in that region. The present development of this important industry is entirely due to the keen perception and persistent courage of Mr. Caldwell, who has succeeded against great odds. On the 28th of December, 1882, he was married to Mary Everett Wallbridge, niece of the late Chief Justice of Manitoba. His family consists of two sons and two daughters.

At the close of his short stay in Fergus, his sterling worth and unflinching courtesy received a pleasant and hearty tribute. Nor is he filling his present arduous position less satisfactorily. Mr. Weir, in politics, is a staunch Conservative, but pressure of business prevents his taking any active part in political matters. In religion, he is a Presbyterian. He is also a member of the A.F. & A.M. His father was a mechanic, who came, in early life, to Canada, and with remarkable shrewdness, industry and perseverance, worked his way, step by step, until he became one of the most prominent men of Montreal. He was for a time joint contractor on the Rideau Canal, with the late Honorable Thomas McKay, who erected, as a private residence for himself, the original portion of Rideau Hall, Ottawa. Mr. Redpath was educated in Montreal, and along with his father, in 1854, founded the Redpath Sugar Refinery, the first and largest in Canada. In this enterprise they were joined, almost at the first, by Mr. G. A. Drummond, now a Senator of the Dominion. Mr. Redpath's busy life always precluded his accepting public office of any kind, for which he was never desirous. He has, however, always taken a practical interest in the educational and benevolent institutions of his native city, as his munificent endowments of McGill College and his administration of the Montreal General Hospital testify. The Roman Catholic Church has, at New Westminster, a beautiful church (St. Peter's Cathedral), St. Louis College, an academy for girls, St. Mary's Hospital, an orphanage and St. Charles Church, for the Roman Catholic Indians, all of which owe their success largely to Bishop Durien.

About the same time, he received the appointment of inspector of public schools, a position he held many years, and being the first inspector of public schools in the counties of Turtle Mountain and Souris River, he organized the majority of the schools there. GOLIN INKSTER, Winnipeg, Sheriff of the Eastern Judicial District of Manitoba, was born August 3rd, 1843, on the historic battle field Seven Oaks, or perhaps more properly speaking, the site of the unhappy massacre of the Red River Settlers, under Governor Semple, 1816, which spot is just outside the city limits of Winnipeg (North Side), and is marked by a granite monument, erected by the Historical Society, in 1891. Sheriff Inkster's parents, were John and Mary (Sinclair) Inkster, both his grandfathers being natives of Orkney, Scotland, and fellow voyagers of Lord Selkirk, to the Red River Settlement, early in this century. He was educated at the St. John Parochial School, after which he worked on his father's farm. On the 16th of March, 1871, he was married to Miss Annie Tait, daughter of Mr. Wm. Tait, who also came from Orkney. They have five sons and two daughters. J. H. ASHDOWN, J.P., Hardware Merchant, Winnipeg, Man., was born in London, Eng., in 1844, but the family removed to Ontario soon after. His early education was somewhat limited, yet he is to-day, and has been for years, one of the best informed men in the West, on the leading questions of the day, Civic, Provincial and Dominion. When eighteen years of age, he struck out for himself, and after spending some time in Ontario, went West, where he imbibed that love for the freedom of a new country, which caused him, in 1868, to locate in Winnipeg, and about a year afterwards went into business on his own account, in a comparatively small way. During the Rebellion of 1869-70, he was for nearly three months one of Riel's prisoners, in Fort Garry, closely confined, ill fed, and badly treated, but from the time of his release, his business has, by dint of perseverance, industry and foresight, grown to its present gigantic proportions. In 1871, Mr. Ashdown was appointed a J.P., by Governor Archibald, which position he still holds. He has grown up with the country, so that to write his biography, would be to write the history of the city and province of his adoption, for he has been prominently identified with all its best interests. He was chairman of the Citizens' Committee, which secured incorporation for the city, was president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, during the Disallowance Agitation, and in his valedictory, in 1887, called in no mistakeable terms, federal attention to the position and feeling of the country anent the same. Mr. Ashdown is a member of the Board of Wesley College, of which he was one of the founders, has been a member of the Hospital Board, School Board, City Council, Board of Trustees of Grace Methodist Church, etc., and has always taken a practical part in the interests of any good cause. In the Spring of 1869, he came to America, and settled at Montreal, where he was employed as clerk in a hardware establishment for some ten years. In 1879, he removed to Manitoba, and took up land near Holland. In 1886, he opened a lumber yard there, and two years later, bought the mill from the Holland Milling Co., which he has since conducted, and he is now known to be one of the foremost millers of the Province. His flour took first prize in the Manitoba exhibit at the World's Fair, Chicago, in 1893, and the judges at that Fair, pronounced it to be the best in the world. His parents Donald and Jessie (Archibald) Urquhart, came to Canada in 1858, and settled in the County of Oxford, Ont., where they still reside. From early childhood he was impressed with the thought of entering the ministry. At the age of eighteen he experienced a decided change, and the year previous to entering college, he engaged in evangelistic work, which was largely blessed, and resulted in some three or four young men entering college to prepare for ministerial work. Similar success attended the various mission fields in which he labored. In every field he has been much encouraged in being made the recipient of addresses and presentations, expressive of the good will of the people. In 1883, he came to Winnipeg, as assistant to Rev. C. B. Pitblado, of St. Andrew's Church, but at the urgent request of the Presbyterians at Regina, he was sent there, and organized the congregation, where hitherto there was but a preaching station. On graduating from Knox College, Toronto, in 1884, he was ordained, and accepted a call to Regina, where he labored for five years, his congregation increasing until it became the largest in the Territories. He took an active part in the work of the Presbytery, and filled for some years the position of clerk and was also convener of the Home Mission

Committee. He also established preaching stations in outlying points, and took an active part in connection with the Indian mission work. In 1889, he received a call to the Presbyterian Church, Brandon, which he accepted, and during the four years of his pastorate, through his untiring energy and ever increasing popularity, the membership has increased three fold. There is in connection with the congregation a Bible class, with an average attendance of about 90, and a Christian Endeavor Society, the largest in the province. Laird, superannuated Methodist minister, of London, Ont., formerly president of Toronto Conference. His mother, whose maiden name was Jackson, was a daughter of one of Canada's earliest pioneers. He then took a wise step, and went to Germany to complete his studies in Natural Science, obtaining in 1888, after a three years' course at Breslau University, the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, with honors. On his return to Canada, he was offered and accepted his present chair in Wesley College, Winnipeg, where his success as a teacher has been very gratifying, and has proved that he was a strong acquisition to that college staff. In four years, the attendance at Wesley College has increased ten fold, and the students have fully held their own in the Manitoba University examinations, all of which is a well-merited tribute to the efficiency and unflagging zeal of Principal Sparling and his three colleagues, whose portraits appear on these pages. Dr. Laird, in religion, is a Methodist, and an active member of Grace Church. He is a member of the University Board of Studies, a member of the University Council, and has been for years an ardent working member of the Manitoba Historical Society, and is chairman of the Archæological Committee of that body. Dr. Laird's thorough preparation is now bearing its legitimate fruit. He is always "master of the situation," and loves his work. As a teacher, he is clear, alert, painstaking, and he has that necessary faculty of engendering in his students a love for their subject. He is unmarried.

ROBERT RUTHERFORD COCHRANE, B.A., Professor of Mathematics in Wesley College, Winnipeg, was born August 9th, 1850, in the Township of Sullivan, Grey County, Ont. His parents, James and Susanna (Rutherford) Cochrane, emigrated from the North of Ireland about 1830. Mr. James Cochrane was a fine type of the sturdy, honest Canadian pioneer. His house was the home of the early travelling Methodist minister, and for many years served as the place of Sabbath worship. When the community decided to establish a common school, the building was erected on his farm, two acres on the corner of which were donated by him for that purpose. He died in 1879, deeply regretted, having survived his estimable wife nearly twenty years. His eldest son, George, is now the well-known Rev. Dr. Cochrane, the pioneer Methodist missionary in Japan. The training afforded by the common school on his father's farm, supplemented by diligent home study, enabled our subject to qualify as a school teacher in 1866. Three years spent in teaching in Sullivan, furnished him with sufficient means to continue his studies for a term at Rockwood Academy, and for the next four years, he taught school in Wellington County. In 1875, he attended the Normal School at Ottawa, obtaining a first-class grade "A" certificate, after which he taught school in Ottawa for six years. In 1879, he matriculated into Toronto University, graduating in 1885, taking first-class honors in Mathematics and Physics. In 1886, he was appointed Principal of Perth Collegiate Institute, which he held until September, 1888, when he received his present appointment. After teaching one year in the Collegiate Institute, St. Catharines, Ont., he entered the law office of Miller, Miller & Cox, in 1878, where he remained three years. He was admitted to the Bar of Ontario, in Hilary Term, 1881, and almost immediately afterwards removed to Manitoba. He was admitted to the Bar of that province, in 1882, and entered upon the practice of his profession in the city of Winnipeg, in partnership with Mr. W. A. Macara, the present District Registrar at Winnipeg. Since 1887, he has been a member of the firm of Archibald, Howell & Cumberland, and while his practice has not been confined to any particular branch, he has given special attention to commercial law, so that his recent elevation, this year (1893), to the judgeship, was well advised and very popular. The Judge is to be congratulated on having received this important appointment before he has quite reached middle life, and his numerous friends and the public generally, hope that he may be long spared to enjoy his well merited distinction, and discharge the duties of the high office to which he has been called, and for which he is so well qualified. A leading contemporary voices competent opinion when he says: "Judge Cumberland takes with him to the Bench, a sound knowledge of law, an unstained reputation, and a high respect won from all with whom he has been in contact." In 1884, Judge Cumberland was married to Miss Helen Wallace, a daughter of A. T. Wallace, Esq., of St. Catharines, Ontario. His family consists of two children, both daughters, Mary and Alice.

At this time, a great number of people were removing to the Northwestern States, and Mr. Taylor became a pioneer in the Town of St. Paul, Minnesota. Here he followed the life of a Government official, having, in Ohio, become connected with State affairs. During his residence in Ohio, he had been Librarian of the Legislature of that State, and had published a "History of Ohio from 1650 to 1787," and also a "Manual of the Ohio School System." During his residence in Minnesota, from 1853 to 1870, Mr. Taylor had taken part in the exciting life of a frontiersman, also an active part in politics. It had been a part of his official duties to have dealings with the people of the Red River, in whom he became much interested. He had, early in the sixties, visited that country, and delighted to detail the incidents of his interesting visit to the then little known banks of the Red River. In 1870, he was appointed, by President Grant, Consul of the United States, resident at Winnipeg. His life was very even and uneventful, chiefly devoted to social duties, and he made himself very popular with all who knew him. He was also intensely interested in the work of the Historical Society, and was so great an authority on the North-West, that he was known as "Saskatchewan Taylor." In religion, he was a Presbyterian, though broad enough in his views to be interested in all denominations. He was married to Miss Chloe Langford, and at the time of his death, had a family of two daughters. He died, April 28th, 1893, deeply regretted, as his life was an embodiment of geniality and kindness. Although not a Canadian citizen, he had so great a love for Manitoba, that this interest and his long residence here justify us in claiming him among Canadian public men.

RIGHT REV. JAS. CHARLES McDONALD, D.D., Bishop of Charlottetown, was born June 14th, 1840, at Allisary, in the Parish of St. Andrew's, P.E.I. His parents were John and Ellen McDonald. In 1866, he entered St. Dunstan's College, where he pursued a course of classical studies for four years. From there, he proceeded to the Grand Seminary, Montreal, and after spending three years there in the study of Theology, was ordained to the priesthood, July 4th, 1873, by the late Bishop McIntyre, of Charlottetown. Soon after his ordination, he was appointed to a professorship in St. Dunstan's College, and it was in this position that he first gave evidence of that energy of character and strong practical judgment which are his characteristic traits. In 1875, he was transferred from the congenial atmosphere of college life to perform the more active duties of a missionary; the field of his labors comprised the present flourishing parishes of St. James, Georgetown, All Saints, Cardigan, and for a time, St. Paul's, Sturgeon and St. Teresa's, Baldwin's Road, and their present prosperous condition is largely due to the energy and zeal of our subject. The parish of All Saints, Cardigan Bridge, was then in its infancy, but under his wise and judicious administration, it soon could boast of a beautiful new church and parochial house, which are a credit to the diocese. In 1884, he was promoted to the rectorship of St. Dunstan's College, which position he filled successfully until called to a wider field of action. In 1890, the late Bishop McIntyre petitioned the Holy See for a coadjutor, and the choice of the Holy Father fell upon Bishop McDonald, who had, on so many occasions, proven himself worthy of the position, and in the same year, he was consecrated titular Bishop of Irina, and coadjutor, with right of succession to the See of Charlottetown, and since then has administered the affairs of the diocese with excellent judgment. Bishop McDonald is very highly esteemed by all classes and creeds.

She can also cut her way through ice from three to four feet thick, at a much slower speed, of course, by being fitted with compartments and apparatus, by which 132 tons of water can be admitted aft quite readily. This permits her prow to be raised over the ice and then lowered, which breaks it down to pieces. He was at once engaged as assistant to Prof. Robertson, in the dairy department of the O.A.C., and when that gentleman was appointed Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion, Prof. Harcourt took full charge of the work and experiments of the department, until the close of 1890. He was then appointed assistant chemist, which he held till his present appointment. It will thus be readily seen that Prof. Harcourt is well qualified both by experience and scholarship, to take almost any position in an agricultural college. In politics, he is a staunch Liberal, and in religion, a Presbyterian, a prominent worker in both church and Sabbath school. He edits the agricultural department of the Island Guardian, of Charlottetown. He was deeply interested in the work of McGill University, and for many years, the "Davidson Gold

He had been a director of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company on the Edinburgh Board since 1863, and, in 1880, became chairman of the General Court of Directors. He died October 30th, 1891, very deeply regretted. Mr. Thomas Davidson was educated at the Edinburgh Academy, and took a finishing course at McGill University. In the same year, he and one of his colleagues were unseated, but at the election in 1891, he was again returned by his old constituency, with much enthusiasm and a handsome majority. At the General Elections of 1892, he stood head of the poll, and was the only Opposition candidate returned out of the four representatives from the county. He stands high in the Province as a politician, and it seems almost useless for any man to oppose him in his own constituency. In 1890, Mr. Powell was elected a member of the Board of Regents of Mt. Allison University, to which position he has been twice re-elected. He takes a great interest in educational matters, and is naturally enthusiastic in his own "Alma Mater." He is an able and popular lawyer, and is the senior member of the firm of Powell & Bennett, who conduct one of the largest legal practices in the Province of New Brunswick. They manufacture principally men's and boys' boots and shoes, and kindred goods, and have obtained a first-class reputation for their various lines. He is, in religion, a member of the Presbyterian Church, and in politics, a Reformer, but does not take an active interest in the affairs of the party. During his episcopate, St. Dunstan's College was rebuilt in brick, eight convents were established, and over a score of churches and parochial houses erected, but the crown of all his labors, was the bestowal on the city of Charlottetown, in 1879, of a large house finished as a hospital, open to all. He visited Rome five times during his Episcopal career, and on the first occasion, extended his journey to the Holy Land. He took part in the Ecumenical Council of 1870, where it was generally conceded that no more imposing figure than Bishop McIntyre's was seen in the grand procession of churchmen. He was appointed secretary to the late Bishop McIntyre, Charlottetown, with whom he remained two and one half years, and then, in 1888, parish priest at Alberton, where he has since labored with so much acceptance. He went there to build up the ecclesiastical institutions of the parishes of Alberton and Lot Seven, a result which he has been able to accomplish in a surprising short time, and in a most efficient manner. He is untiring in his efforts to upbuild his church, as well as in every other good cause which has for its aim the advancement of morality. Father Burke was the first to organize the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association in Prince Edward Island, and has, of course, always taken an interest in its growth in that province. In 1892, in company with other prominent gentlemen, he went out to the North-West and Pacific Coast, at the invitation of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., to report upon the fertility, extent, etc., of those regions, as a field for colonization. He is a staunch Conservative in politics, and takes an active and practical interest in whatever tends to the welfare and prosperity of his country. Father Burke is a fluent and able preacher, a frequent contributor to the press, and as such wields a trenchant pen, into which he instils all his energetic manner and wide knowledge. He was a promoter and one of the directors of the Winnipeg Gas Co., and a director of the Winnipeg Water Works Co., but sold out his interest in both at a favorable time.
